Four Die In Blaze

WARSAW, Mo. (AP) — Three teen-age boys lost their lives early Sunday when they dashed back into a burning hay-filled barn in an attempt to rescue a fourth victim.

Benton County sheriff's deputy Darrell Fishback, said the youths were spending the night in the barn when sparks from a fire in a barrel being used for warmth started the blaze.

The barn, on the Ted Schneider farm southwest of Warsaw, Mo., was destroyed.

The victims were identified as Randy Gunn, 16, Larry Simpson, 17, William Roney Smith, 16, and Ken Polly, 16. A fifth youth, Jim Polly, was treated for smoke inhalation.

The deputy said one of the youths awoke to find the barn in flames, and alerted the others. They fled, but when it was discovered one of their number was missing, three youths reenetered the building to find the missing boy, and all four were trapped in the fire.

Deputies said that Johnson was carrying the knife believed to have been used in the stabbing when he was arrested by sheriff's deputies. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

Meeting With Top Leaders

March For Peace Asked By Nixon

PEKING (AP) — President Nixon met today with China's top leaders, holding separate talks with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai. Then, at a banquet in his honor, he said he was appealing to them to "start a long march together" with the United States toward peace.

"Not in lockstep," the President said, "but on different roads toward the same goal."

Both sides acknowledged the wide differences between Communist China and capitalist America but both expressed a desire for peaceful relations without compromising principles.

Nixon's remarks were made at an informal banquet given by the Chinese for him and Mrs. Nixon in the Great Hall of the People off to one side of Tien An Men Square—the Square of Heavenly Peace.

At the banquet, Chou spelled out China's terms for the establishment of diplomatic relations between Washington and Peking.

And the President told Chou there is no need for the United States and China to be enemies, as they have been for the past 20 years.

It was the final event of Nixon's historic arrival day on the Chinese mainland as the first American president ever to do so.

He had spent an hour with Chairman Mao, the 78-year-old supreme leader of Chinese communism. Afterward the meeting was described as "frank and serious" by both the Americans and the Chinese. In Communist phraseology, frank and serious usually means disagreement.

Then the President conferred with Premier Chou.

Next came the banquet for the Nixons and the other Americans with them. A Chinese band played American and Chinese tunes and the Nixons ate with chopsticks.

Chou sat next to the Nixons during the dinner and made his proposals for diplomatic relations in his toasts.

Americans and Chinese are both great peoples who have always been friendly to each other "but owing to reasons known to all, the contacts between the two peoples were suspended for over 20 years," Chou said.

But, he added, the gates to friendship have been opened by a desire of both Americans and Chinese for a relaxation of tensions.

"The social systems of China and of the United States are fundamentally different, and there are great differences between the two governments," Chou said "However these differences should not hinder China and the United States from establishing normal relations on the basis of five principles: (1) of mutual respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of nations, (2) of mutual nonaggression, (3) of noninterference in internal affairs, (4) of mutual equality, and (5) of peaceful coexistence."

These are the points that Chou laid down at the Bandung conference in 1955. This was an Asian nonaligned meeting in Bandung, Indonesia.

Nixon responded to Chou's toast by noting that if China and the United States remain enemies the future of the world is dark. He said common interests bring the United States and China together now to trascend their differences.

"As we discuss our differences," the President added, "neither of us will compromise our principles. Although we cannot close the gulf between us, we can try to bridge it so that we may be able to talk across it.

"And so let us in these next five days start a long march together. Not in lockstep but on different roads to the same goal: a goal of building a world structure of peace and justice in which all may stand together with equal dignity, in which each nation, large or small, has a right to determine its own form of government free of outside interference or domination."

"The world watches, the world listens, the world waits to see what we will do," Nixon asserted.

Near the start of his response to Chou's toast, Nixon had declared: "What we say here will not be long remembered. What we do here can change the world."

He complimented the Chinese band that played for the diners, saying: "I have never heard American music played better in a foreign land."

Among other selections, the band played the national anthem of each country.

The President and Mrs. Nixon sat with Chou at a table for 20 in the center of the Great Hall. The others sat at round tables for 10.

Mrs. Nixon, wearing an informal short red velvet suit with high neck and long sleeves, sat at Chou's left and the President at his right.

Both Nixons ate with chopsticks and the Chinese hosts occasionally leaned over to serve a tidbit to the First Lady.

Nixon met Mao between 3 and 4 p.m. at the chairman's home. With the President was Henry A. Kissinger, his special adviser. Chou accompanied them to the house along with Wang Hai-yung, deputy director of protocol, and an interpreter from the Foreign Ministry.

Mao did not meet Nixon at the airport on his arrival in late morning, but this was not unusual.

After the Mao meeting the 59year-old American President had his first formal talk with Premier Chou, 73. A number of others are likely to follow in the week-long visit. There was no indication of what they discussed.

Nixon's first day in China was sunny with the temperatures in the middle 30s.

There were no speeches at his arrival at the airport.

Nixon had expressed his hopes for his historic visit during a stopover in Guam.

No major break-throughs were expected on such issues as the Vietnam war or the future of Taiwan, seat of Nationalist China's government. Nixon himself emphasized the getacquainted nature of his mission, telling newsmen aboard his plane, "Because of a lack of communications, we are a mystery to them, as they are a mystery to us."

Hughes Seeks Airplane Sale

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Mystery billionaire Howard Hughes is here to discuss the sale of airplanes and a possible airline merger—and perhaps to find peace, the president of Nicaragua says.

Stepping off a twin-jet plane to a 21-gun artillery salute and military band music after a state visit to Panama, President Anastasio Somoza spoke of Hughes' visit as he told newsmen:

"Let's not make so much fanfare about the matter. If he wants to be respected and let alone, that's his business....

"As a human being I respect his right to keep his privacy. My belief is that he came to Nicaragua because he believes in this country, its security, its peace, social peace, and he feels perhaps that he can find peace here".

The personable, 45-year-old Nicaraguan president said: "As far as I know he is staying at the Intercontinental Hotel." Hughes has been reported to be in the towering, pyramidshaped hostelry but has not been seen.

Somoza said the sale of planes would be to him and that the merger would be between his Lanica Airline and Hughes' Air West. Somoza said he has neither seen nor talked with Hughes, but "we have talked with some of his lead men about the purchase and sale of airplanes and the merger of airlines."

The tall, heavy-set Somoza said he extended his personal invitation to Hughes three months ago to visit Nicaragua, and Hughes was "delighted to accept."

Somza displayed a "nice" letter from Hughes, typewritten on Hotel Intercontinental stationery, dated Sunday and reading:

"Please accept my heartfelt greetings and appreciation for your cordial invitation to visit beautiful Nicaragua. Your aides have been most gracious and helpful to me and my staff.

"Please convey my sincere thanks and good wishes to all. I look forward with pleasure to our future contacts. Sincerely yours, Howard R. Hughes."

A reporter asked how long Somoza thinks Hughes will stay in Nicaragua. "As long as his business interests keep him here," said the president.

Basic Problems Face Legislators

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Some of the 1972 session's basic problems confronted Missouri legislators when they returned to work today.

The Senate was to convene at 2 p.m. and the House an hour later.

Right off the bat House members will be asked to endorse a rules change designed to get bills of statewide importance out of the mired down list of bills ready for debate and give them a higher priority.

The Rules Committee would be turned into a screening committee to lift major bills into position for early debate. Now many of them are far down the list of more than 300 bills jamming the House docket.

Appropriation bills are no problem—they get top priority automatically. The House is expected to pass some $1.8 bilion in 1972-73 budget bills Tuesday.

Then they go to the Senate where the Appropriations Committee heard appropriation requests before the 1972 session opened. Heavy cuts are expected in the Senate before the bills go to conference committee for settlement.

The Senate committee is still hanging onto the emergency appropriation bill to keep vital programs going until July 1 and restore some welfare cuts. That bill will be considered Monday night.

Killer Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sub-zero cold settled over the Northeast today in the wake of a massive and violent snowstorm that left 15 persons dead in Pennsylvania and New York.

A state of emergency was declared in Pennsylvania by Gov. Milton Shapp. Emilien A. Levesque, director of civil defense for Maine, estimated storm damage in that state would reach into the millions of dollars.

In West Virginia, National Guard troops were placed on the alert to man rescue helicopters if needed in Preston County, hit by drifts up to 15 feet deep.

Ebensburg, Pa., was buried under a 45-inch snowfall and Binghampton, N.Y., reported two feet. High winds dropped the wind-chill index to 50 degrees below zero in the Albany, N.Y., area and winds to 50 miles per hour raked New York City, with the temperature in the teens.

Six persons died in Pennsylvania after collapsing while shoveling snow and nine such deaths were recorded in New York State.

Unseasonably cold air pushed down the Atlantic Coast to as far as Florida.

Over the remainder of the country, fair and dry weather was the rule, except for a few snow flurries near the Great Lakes and in the northern Rockies and isolated showers in Northern California and Alabama.

17 Stopped By Police

Police Chief Arthur Bruce announced that a crackdown began Friday on people who haven't bought their city vehicle stickers.

So far 17 people have been stopped by police for not having their stickers. Bruce said that the judge will probably charge the violators one dollar and court costs for a total of $11.

Another Arrest In Home Breakin

CHARLESTON — Larry Johnson, 24, Charleston, was arrested by the police department Saturday night and turned over to the sheriff's office.

Johnson has been charged with breaking, entering and stealing along with three other men arrested last Tuesday in connection with the Feb. 2 breakin of the Jerry Greenwood home in the Dogwood community. Johnson is being held under $5,000 bond in the Mississippi county jail and is to be arraigned Thursday in magistrate court.

Also arrested on the same charges were Jimmy Johnson, 22, Charleston, Ronnie Lane, 20, and Thomas Sterling, 22, both of East Prairie.

Suspect Jailed For Stealing

He was arrested at Cape Girardeau after authorities were notified he left New Madrid northbound on a Greyhound bus. A rifle was recovered hidden in a suitcase.

Longshoremen Working

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — West Coast longshoremen returned to the docks in force today to begin clearing the backlog of ships idled during a 134day strike, longest in American mainland shipping history.

Dock workers who on Saturday completed ratification of a new contract crowded hiring halls for assignments to unload and load the 218 ships waiting in ports from Bellingham, Wash., to San Diego.

Smaller crews worked Sunday to prepare cranes and other equipment for the resumption of work.

Meantime, in Washington it was announced that President Nixon, while in Peking had signed legislation to end the dock strike, He coupled his largely symbolic act with a renewed call for congressional action on broader legislation to prevent future transportation tie-ups.

In a statement relayed from China, Nixon said he had delayed action on legislation to end the strike by arbitration "in the hope that the pending legislation would encourage the parties to reach a voluntary accord."

"Today," he continued, "as this legislation takes effect with my signature, I am pleased to note that the arbitration machinery will no longer be needed."

A spokesman for the employers' Pacific Maritime Association said 57 crews were to work in San Francisco Bay ports. Seattle reported 17 gangs made up for today with 10 more for the night shift.

The contract with the PMA was approved late Saturday in a coastwide ballot that rolled up a 71 per cent approval vote, the ILWU announced.

The PMA's 122 shipping and stevedoring firm members also voted Saturday afternoon to ratify the 18-month contract, subject to settlement of the so called "steady man" question.

This was turned over by mutual agreement to private mediator Sam Kagel for binding arbitration. He issued an interim order Sunday afternoon giving the two sides until March 10 to settle it themselves.

The shippers want to keep the same crews working steadily on machinery which requires extensive training to operate. The union prefers to rotate all jobs through the hiring hall lists in order to spread work among a membership which for the last decade has seen more and more jobs absorbed by automated and increasingly sophisticated equipment.

The cost of the strike has been estimated by economists at approximately $2 billion.

The strike started last July 1 when a five-year contract expired. A Taft-Hartley injunction sent the men back to work Oct. 6. The walkout resumed Jan. 17 after federal mediation failed.

THE STRANGE ECONOMY OF THE U.S.S.R.

For the first time in history the Soviet Union in 1971 became the largest steel producer in the world. Thereby hangs two or three tales of some importance.

First the figures: Official Soviet tabulations put the year's total steel output for the Communist nation at 133 million tons. This compares with the American Iron and Steel Institute's estimate of 120.2 million tons of steel produced in the United States in 1971. (Both figures in tons of 2,000 pounds each.) A spokesman for the American institute suggested the reason for Russia's outstripping the U. S. was the very high amount of steel imports by the U. S. and economic recession. The Soviet Union imports a small amount of steel from Sweden.

In view of the fact that the U.S.S.R. does not yet have an automobile plant or a truck manufacturing plant with mass-production capabilities like the great factories in the United States, what is Russia doing with all that steel? Some of it is being used to build automobiles in the three auto plants that the Soviet Union has; some goes to construct ships, trucks, railroad cars and locomotives, to lay tracks and erect buildings. But the greatest amount goes into the production of tanks, shells, fighting aircraft, submarines and other warships, silos for missiles, spacecraft, atomic bombs, and other material.

Another matter that is not mentioned in the news of the U.S.S.R.'s steel production primarcy is that it is the result largely of American technology and construction enterprise. Other Western capitalist nations also played a part in the Soviet rise to such towering industrial power.

Last year also the Soviet Government purchased more than $140 million worth of feed grain from the United States, since Moscow has not solved the problem of food production. It steadfastly refuses to follow Western "technology": freedom for its farmers. Despite it ability to produce huge amounts of steel, the Italian Fiat company is building Russia's first real mass-production automobile plant, and American companies are preparing to build the first real mass-production truck manufacturing plan in the U.S.S.R., which is to be the largest in the world.

The Soviet Union can claim another first: Its economy is the strangest in the world. It could not exist without support from the West.

JEFFERSON'S JUDGMENT STANDS
WASHINGTON: 'WISE AND GREAT'

"Treacherous in private friendship and a hypocrite in public life" was the verdict of one eminent American.

Thomas Paine, pamphleteer and patriot, was delivery what he probably sincerely believed to be final judgment on George Washington.

That the first chief executive was the target of scathing attack in his own time is a fact of American history largely forgotten by all but historians. But fact nonetheless. Political hatchetmen of any time would be hard put to match the abuse heaped upon the least political of presidents.

Washington himself, writing in the last year of his presidency to Thomas Jefferson, complained that the partisan press referred to him in "such exaggerated and indecent terms as could scarcely be applied to a Nero, a notorius defaulter, or even a common pickpocket."

Yet the Washington reputation not only survived, it has grown through the years. While the debunking school of historians has been industriously cutting down to size other greats of America's early years, recognition of Washington's indispensable contributions to the fledgling nation has become clearer, respect greater.

Why? He certainly lacked the intellectual brilliance of Jefferson, the political and economic genius of Hamilton. He was not a great speaker or writer, not one to fire men with his words. He would be considered dull, unimaginative today. Why should this sober, even stuffy, country gentleman be revered as have few other presidents?

It is simply that because without Washington there would have been no country, no subsequent presidents.

At the end of the Revolution, whatever discipline and unity had been forged by the war utterly collapsed. Political confusion, economic chaos, even armed rebellion followed victory.

Washington, who had been the indispensable general in winning independence in war, was now to be the indispensible civilian in securing that independence in peace — both as a prime mover of the Constitutional Convention that established the framework of the new nation and as its first president.

Washington, the military hero enjoying the gratitude of his countrymen, knew he had far more to lose than to gain by entering the political arena.

Yet no ideal moved him so deeply as national unity. And by accepting the challenge, with the calumny that inevitably followed, he, more than anyone else, maintained unity during the crucial early years, doing so by sheer force of person and character.

The service to the nation of the man who always thought of himself as president of all the people, who was president of the entire United States as none to follow could hope to be, cannot be debunked.

Jefferson, not Paine, delivered the judgment that was to be history's.

"He was, in every sense of the words, a wise, a good and a great man."

TED KENNEDY AT 40

No man who reaches the age of 40 can be called a kid brother, regardless of how many older siblings he may have. Edward Moore Kennedy was the youngest of nine children, four of whom died umtimely and violent deaths -- including all three of his brothers. On Tuesday, Feb. 22, Kennedy will enter his fifth decade of life, the arbitrary divide between youth and middle age.

Kennedy at 40 is the senior U. S. senator from Massachusetts. A decade ago, he was an assistant district attorney in the commonwealth, his brother John was President of the United States, and his brother Robert was U. S. Attorney General. Thus, when Ted Kennedy announced his candidacy for the Senate in March 1962, he and his family were denounced as presumptuous and arrogant. But he won the Democratic primary with a stunning 69 per cent of the vote and went on to win the general election almost as handily.

Kennedy's political fortunes have sinced ebbed and flowed in roughly equal measure. Through hard work and self-effacement, he won the respect of the initially skeptical senior members of the Senate. In 1969, by a vote of 31-26, he ousted Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana as Senate Democratic Whip. Then came Chappaquiddick. That tragedy, together with faulty nose-counting, led to Kennedy's ouster from the whip post in 1971.

Today, Kennedy is the Senate's leading noncandidate for President -- or is he? In line with his 1970 pledge to Massachusetts voters to serve out the full six years of his current term, he has refused to enter any 1972 presidential preference primaries. But some observers, noting Kennedy's many appearances at party functions around the country, think he might be amenable to a draft if the Democratic National Convention should become deadlocked.

Such speculation is bound to increase when the senator speaks at a Democratic rally in Los Angeles on Saturday, Feb. 19. That appearance will come exactly one week after Democratic caucuses are held at the congressional district level to solicit nominations for national convention delegates. Even so, Kennedy's speech is bound to have some political impact and to stir poignant memories. Robert Kennedy scored his biggest and last presidential primary victory in the Golden State in 1968, and he was assassinated in Los Angeles while still savoring it.

Fertile world: People aren't alone in being capable of population explosions. All kinds of species, animal or vegetable, have this incipient capacity. For example, a single-celled paramecium invisible to the naked eye can divide in 22 hours. If allowed to multiply unchecked, the descendants of two paramecia would equal the earth in volume in 66 days.

It was Mark Twain who observed, "From his cradle to his grave a man never does a single thing which has any first and foremost object save one— to secure peace of mind, spiritual comfort, for himself."

BILLBOARD DEADLINE

Secretary of Transportation Volpe has made it final: unless the Legislature puts Missouri billboard controls into compliance with federal standards by March 31, he will withhold $11,500,000 in federal highway funds. The Legislature has been avoiding this idea, under the tutelage of the billboard lobby. If it continues to do so, state highways will suffer.

Moreover, Mr. Volpe clarified another point. The Government will not help pay for removing road signs erected in violation of the 1965 Federal Highway Beautification Act. The Missouri Senate once voted to use public funds to pay for taking down illegal billboards erected without permits under Missouri's own weak 1968 regulations. Then the Senate changed its mind. Evidently the state will have to compensate owners for removing legal billboards, but not a cent should go for illegal ones.

Though threatened repeatedly with loss of federal funds, the Legislature has so far reacted only to the soft reassurances of the billboard lobby that the Government did not mean what it said. Now the Legislature has only a month and a half to spare the state the results of this folly. — Post-Dispatch.

THE CHOICE

A temptation to which legislators may understandably succumb is to join the mob in legislative proposals which sound attractive.

Often the only thing attractive about the proposals is the title it bears.

The legislation may, in fact, deeply damage rights of citizens. In other words, it may take away rights of Americans and put this nation on the path toward dictatorship.

We commend Senator William J. Cason (D-Clinton) for discerning this fact about a proposal presently before the legislature which would allow local police and sheriffs to use wire tapping devices.

The bill masquerades under the guise of law and order. Therefore, it will attract support. In fact, the Senator's stand in opposing it may be unpopular.

But we need more legislators who understand that duty comes first; that if election to public office is a popularity contest it won't be long before the democratic process falls apart.

The Federal Crime Act of 1968 provides glaring enough bad example of what may happen when authority to wire tap is expanded and loosened.

Bring that down to the local level and provide local officers with wire tap equipment and the threat to individual privacy becomes even greater.

Guarantees of privacy would potentially mean nothing -- even when in long-protected conversations between a minister and church member; lawyer and client; husband and wife.

The most appalling aspect of this yen to broaden authority to wire tap is that top police experts have testified that electronic surveillance is the most inefficient and least productive of police tools. Sound, traditional methods of investigation are much more productive of what every right-thinking person wants – actual results.

Even if wire tapping and bugging really brought good results any broadening of such surveillance should be considered against the chipping away of rights it effects.

It's a choice between whether we want to continue our democracy, for which so many have died, or throw in the towel and become a totalitarian state. — In the Clinton Daily Democrat.

INDUSTRY—STUDENT 'BRIDGE' IS PUBLIC AFFAIRS SUCCESS

College and university students joined hands with business and industry in the Minnesota Coalition to Lower the Voting Age (MCLVA) campaign for placing a 19-year-old vote amendment on the ballot.

The campaign succeeded. Now several students from MCLVA are a part of theMinnesota Youth Franchise Coalition, working on the follow-up steps of educating young people about the political process, getting them registered and urging them to vote, according to Russell W. Laxson, vice president of Public Affairs, Honeywell Inc.

An outgrowth of this campaign is the "Bridges" program of holding rap sessions on topics such as business responsibility, drugs, law and order, technology and economic conversion, profits, and chaning values. These dialogue sessions are tailored to the mutual interests of companies and students.

"Bridges" has helped close that gap between the generations, explained Mr. Laxson.

"Bridges" has done much for business and college groups in appreciating each others' values, Mr. Laxson added.

Another unusual program, fostering the same hope and intent, is one of student internships in corporate, academic and government offices. Students for 10 weeks last winter looked over the shoulders of management to see how it went about making decisions - and particularly how it took into account various social responsibilities in making those decisions.

Business and government organizations participating in this first internship program included International Multifoods; Cargill, Inc.; Northern States Power Co.; Green Giant Co.; Apache Corp; Univ. of Minnesota; Hennepin County Administrator's Office; St. Paul Mayor's Office; Minneapolis City Coordinator's office and Honeywell, Inc.

ATTACKS ON POLICE

New York City Police Commissioner Patrick J. Murphy has accused in formal complaints four members of what he describes as the "Black Liberation Army" in connection with the murder of two police officers. One of the victims was black and one white. They had fought through the war in Vietnam together, become friends and joined the New York Police Department which assigned them to work together. The pair, Gregory Foster and Rocco Lourie, were gunned down in cold blood on Jan. 27. There was no provocation for the attack.

New York police have sworn to track down the killers of their brother officers. In describing the nine who are sought, four of them formally charged and five wanted for questioning. Commissioner Murphy said "This group and a handful of others have been responsible for killings and assaults on policemen, both black and white."

The assaults on our officers of the law must be halted. If they aren't, we are living in nothing more than a jungle with vicious predators on the prowl, destroying the one thing that is most precious to all of us, law and order. Too often, we see on our television screens scenes of funerals being conducted for the men in blue who have fallen to the guns and bombs of the depraved.

There are laws in the books to protect the innocent, and the men wearing the badges are on their beats day and night to enforce those laws and protect life and property. There men in uniform are part of the innocent, too. The persons responsible for their murders must be apprehended and brought before the bar of justice and extreme punishment meted out. Nothing else will satisfy the requirements of a civilized people. HLH

New Anti-racketeering Weapon: small bank and auto loan applications now one of FBI-IRS biggest Anti-mafia guns

WASHINGTON — Next time you see or read of a big black-car cortege arriving at a Mafia marriage or funeral under a heavy barrage of FBI or Internal Revenue Service (IRS) cameras, please note that the lens box is the newest government anti-racketeering weapon.

And it makes no difference if the G-Men or T-Men are using simple Brownies. Point is to get the license plate numbers. Not merely to identify the owners. That's old black hat. Point is to trace the license plates to bank or auto financing loans, check the borrowers' applications and learn whether false statements have been made. The search is not for fraud. The search is for any false (and some legitimate) information over the signature of the loan-seeker at a bank, savings and loan institution, credit union or other federally insured depositor.

This operation, now rippling across the nation, is just part of the newest weaponry, a most simplistic system, launched by the Justice Dept's network of 18 anti-organized crime coordinated strike forces. It is coordinated with a methodical searching of bank records everywhere for all sorts of Mafia loans -- be they FHA, educational, medical or for furniture or investment.

This search is legal under the comparatively new powers granted by an amendment in the final hours of 1970 (just about 14 months ago) to the anti-fraud against government and Federal Reserve acts -- Title 18 of the U.S. Criminal Code sections 1014 and 1010. So intense investiagion is just beginning to get results.

The theory is that any such loan applications, ignored in the past because the law restricted violations only to Federally chartered savings and loan houses, are vital. Under the new law the strike forces can examine anything -- in state chartered banking and loan establishments, banks, credit unions -- any financial house involving Federally insured funds.

Thus even if a Mafioso fills out the loan forms honestly, he provides the government with invaluable leads. This information is inherent in questions on assets, home address, previous business activity, criminal record if any, credit rating, etc. But how can Mafiosi answer such questions honestly? How can they reveal their assets, their holdings in legitimate corporations, their actual home addresses, their past records, their real birth places?

So virtually all of them lie. Or shade the truth. When asked for occupation they may offer some company. But then this company, if it exists, must tell FBI and IRS agents what the Mafioso does at the office or shop. And are Federal taxes being deducted? And why was he hired if he doesn't report and work regularly?

And what of the company itself? Was it muscled into putting the racketeer on the payroll? And if the original loan applicant doesn't answer the question, "Occupation," what does he do for a living? He can't just write "Button Man," slugger (or worse) for the Colombo, Gambino or Catena family.

If the hoods have no legitimate "job," how can they drive big cars, smoke longer cigars, live in fine suburban homes, spend thousands traveling, haunting racetracks and exclusive restaurants?

So it is all in the simple loan application. And it all started in Chicago when an FBI man, according to a Justice Dept. source here, consulted Sheldon Davidson, now head of the strike force there. They searched out the loan application of one Louis DeRiggi. Result was indictment. Davidson had hit on something.

These fellows always needed money. They're always short of cash for an angle or a lady. Some of them go in for an FHA loan, get the money on false statements and put it into "juice." They pay off the loan at 5 or 6 per cent and lend it at anywhere from 20 to 200 per cent. Or they just spend it and repay the government at pittance interest. And they do their home repairs themselves. Or a buttom man does them.

Most of the small sum money lenders are small-time hoods. They are the lower echelon fellows -- cousins or organized crime family bosses, underbosses, captains. Or they are bodyguards or drivers for the dons.

And they have their banking connections. The IRS reports 86 out of the 2,000 top organized criminals are in "finance, banking, savings and loans and brokerage houses." Or they go to banks where the mob boss has political connections.

There have been arrests in Chicago and New York. Some of the accused are legitimate borrowers but most are in the Colombo, Gambino and Genovese mobs in New York. The punishment is minute: two years on each loan application containing false information. And/or a $5,000 fine.

But the potential for anti-racketeering intelligence is enormous. So it is, too, for delving into crooked union locals which put their welfare moneys in savings banks.

It takes much digging. But all the strike forces have been alerted. You can get some of your best shots from a little Brownie. Who says a weapon need be complicated?

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- A six-month investigation has exposed how graveyard salesmen promise America's war heroes "free'. lots. then hard-sell them into burial deals costing up to $2,000.

This macabre nationwide traffic was discovered by five George Washington University law students using the code name "Dead Give-away" and working under consumer advocate Prof. John Banzhai III.

Their 135 pages of findings were turned over to Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., whose Senate Veterans Committee swore the students to secrecy until they can examined a copy of the unsettling study. Here are the highlights:

--An elderly, crippled woman had to exhume the body of her veteran husbnad from Rosewood Memorial Park, Virginia Beach, Va., "because she was unable to pay $1,100 for the 'free' grave for which the veteran had 'registered'."

--"A veteran and his wife ...were told by a salesman from Pinelawn (N.Y.) Memorial Cemetery ...that because of a shortage of burial spaces in the eastern United States, veterans who died after 1980 without a burial space would have to be cremated." The panicked veteran signed a $740 contract.

--A saleswoman told a veteran's wife she was from the Veterans Administration and was sending over a representative. The "VA representative" talked the vet into buying a $338 lot in the "Garden of Winged Victory," Crestwood Cemetery, Grand Blanc, Mich.

DEAD GIVEAWAY

--A young veteran was told by a salesman from Pisgah View (N.C.) Memorial Park that he would lose his VA burial benefits "if he didn't accept the 'free' offer because of a shortage of space in the National Cemeteries ....The resultant cost --$1,441."

--"A totally disabled veteran with brain damage was sold a $1,100 contract by Carolina Biblical Gardens of Guilford, N.C., as the result of high-pressure sales tactics."

The "Dead Giveaway'. students, posing as prospective grave lot buyers, discovered nationwide chains industriously profiting from "free" or nearly "free" burial site offers to veterans.

One chain, Olympus Service Corp., of Dallas, enthusiastically reported to its stockholders that lot sales had "accelerated from the average of $30,000 per month to $350,000."

Other burial chains criticized in the study are Service Corporation International, of Houston, and Woodlawn Memorial Gardens, Inc., Norfolk.

The student researchers found few or no complaints against some cemeteries. But there was evidenee that a few big graveyards were peddling do-it-yourself kits to smaller cemeteries on how to profit from phony "free" offers to vets. In other cases, chains bought-up smaller firms as part of "package" deals with 500 per cent mark-ups.

The studens found abuses occurred most frequently in Florida, Maryland, Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Yet so lucrative is the veterans market that the eminent National Association of Cemeteries recently sponsored a sales management clinic called "Veterans Programs Can Last Forever."

At the Association's Arlington, Va., offices, a spokesman commented, "most of the complaints have been highly exaggerated."

Footnote: Veterans can get up to $250 in burial expenses from the Veterans Administration and a free plot in a National Cemetery from the Army. The army, VA and authorized veterans groups willingly provide burial information.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Hospital Crisis -- Officials at the prestigious Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland had to close down all 11 of their operating rooms recently when they discovered the air conditioning system was discharging "a foreign material which appeared to be rust." Emergency patients were shunted into a backup operating room in the outpatient department while the air in the normal surgical suite was purified.

Tower Trips -- When Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., looks for campaign fund raisers, he goes to the wealthy special interests he has served so loyally during his Senate years. Thus, when he wanted a top fund raiser in Texas's most important county, he went to Humble Oil's capable chairman, Mike Wright. Tower made the secret approach through GOP National Co-Chairman Anne Armstrong and her husband, Tobin. Mrs. Armstrong dispatched her husband's uncle, Tom Armstrong, an old hunting buddy of Wright, to convince him to be finance chairman for Harris County, which includes Houston. But the cagey Wright pointed out that he is on the board of the U.S. Postal Service, which might be a conflict of interest. Crestfallen, Mrs. Armstrong wrote Tower, in a letter marked "Personal and Confidential," that Wright might help out some "without a title," but not formally. Tom Armstrong, she said.," really worked on this and is so sorry he couldn't deliver for you."

Patent Play -- The Interior Department is trying to poke another hole in the public's right to patents developed under federal contracts. The Office of Saline Water has asked Congress to let industry have the rights to de-salinization patents for up to three years. But sharp-eyed staffers at the House Interior Committee have spotted the loophole request. They are estimating how much the give-away will cost the public --and whether it is true, as Saline Water claims, that industry won't do de-salting work without an exemption.

Federal Uncertainties Cloud Water Projects

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Availability of federal funds and a question of the amount cloud the outlook for water pollution abatement projects in 107 Missouri communities and sewer districts.

The Missouri Senate last week passed and sent to the House a bill to provide $20 million in water pollution bond funds, the state's 25 per cent share to go with 55 per cent from the federal government and 20 per cent from local funds.

However, it was pointed out by Robert H. Hentges, a water pollution control technician with the state Water Pollution Board, that federal participation is up in the air in Washington.

Hentges said the act under which federal funds are made available has expired, and two new Congressional approaches are being considered.

One in the Senate would boost the federal share to 70 per cent and require 10 per cent matching funds from the state and 20 per cent from local governments.

A House proposal would provide 75 per cent federal funds, 15 per cent state and 10 per cent local.

If either of these proposals passes, the $20 million approved by the state Senate would go further than originally expected in financing construction of sewage treatment plants, interceptor, force mains and pumping stations and miscellaneous pollution abatement projects already on the drawing boards.

Another alternative, Hentges said, is continuation of current financing program in Washington. That would mean some communities simply will have to wait another year, or perhaps longer, to get their projects underway.

The Water Pollution Board is anticipating some 73 new applications. Under the present funding formula, the $20 million in state funds would not cover them all.

Twenty-two communities or sewer districts now have projects on file and another 12 are seeking increases due to inflation of construction costs or unforeseen difficulties.

These total about $16 million.

Hentges said about half the project involves construction of sewage treatment facilities. Most of the rest are sewage systems, and a few involve water source treatment projects.

Last October Missouri voters approved a constitutional amendment which would permit the state to spend up to $150 million in bond-financed projects.

Hentges said the program would span about seven to 10 years, although the bonds could be issued for up to a 25-year period.

The bill now in the House carries an emergency clause, which would make it effective as soon as the governor signs it.

Meanwhile, appropriation of the funds has been held up. The House Appropriations Committee first struck the amount from an emergency budget bill for this year.

Rep. E. J. Cantrell, D-Overland, committee chairman, said the legislature must first pass enabling legislation.

If the enabling bill now before the House is passed, actual funding would have to be accomplished in the so-called omnibus bill late in the session which is designed to finance new or expanded programs.

Top Drug Enforcer Opposes Marijuana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top drug enforcer says he disagrees with a former aide's recent stand in favor of legalizing the use of marijuana and he believes the employes of his agency also oppose the idea.

John E. Intersoll, head of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said in an interview that a statement two weeks ago by John Finlator in favor of legalizing the use of marijuana "has made a lot of people very unhappy, including some people who had great faith in him."

Finlator, who retired Jan. 1 as the bureau's No. 2 man, joined the executive board of a Washington-based lobby seeking legalization of marijuana use and endorsed repeal of penalties for smoking or possession of pot.

"It's not my intention," Finlator said, "to promote or encourage decriminalization of that drug.

"We must stop sending people to jail for smoking marijuana."

Ingersoll suggested work and treatment programs or a system of fines as possible alternatives to imprisonment of persons who have a small amount of marijuana for their own use.

"At the same time, I think there is also a need for criminal sanctions for these kinds of offenses," he said.

Ingersoll said he would study the report to be issued next month by the National Marijuana Commission, but "if they are going to recommend the removal of all criminal penalties for simple possession, I'm going to oppose it."

Reports indicate the commission will recommend that Americans be legally free to use pot in private-but won't encourage them to do so.

Ingersoll said if the administration were to accept a recommendation for the legalization of marijuana use, the government would, in effect, be condoning drug abuse.

"This is completely contrary to what the government should do, he said. "Its basic responsibility is to protect the health and safety of its citizens."

"Nobody can convince me that a drug-tolerant society is not going to become more and more afflicted by the use of drugs of all variety," he said.

Asked if there is widespread support within the bureau for Finlator's newly announced stand, Ingersoll said "just the opposite" was true.

"His joining with forces that adovcate the legalization of marijuana has created a lot of questions in the minds of people as to his motivations," Ingersoll said.

Building Collapse Traps 2

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eight floors of a former department store being demolished collapsed Sunday in downtown Kansas City, trapping two men in the tons of rubble. Rescuers hope to reach them by noon today.

The men were Stanley Woods, about 30, of Grandview, Mo., and Donald Shannon, 30, of Topeka, Kan., employes of the Englelhaupt Construction Corp., of Topeka, Kan., which was demolishing the building.

Shortly after the collapse, about noon, rescuers said they heard one of the men moaning.

Rescuers then began digging in two directions to reach the men, one crew from above and another through a basemen adjoining the collapsed structure.

Fred Cow, an Engelhaupt employe emerged from the basement and said the rescuers had been talking with Woods.

"He said he was in pain," said Cow, "and then he said he was bleeding a lot and getting numb."

Coe said he could get no closer than an estimated 12-feet to Woods and could not see him.

The Fire Department chaplain, The Rev. Robert N. Deming, ,returned from the basement around 3 o'clock and reported that "neither of the men appears to be conscious at this time. We were separated from them by 6 to 12 feet of concrete and steel."

There had been no additional word from the trapped men since.

Bud Marsh of Topeka said, "it never gave us any warning."

Marsh and three other men were cutting a steel beam with an acetylene torch on the first floor.

"That beam snapped and it must have been holding up the rest of the building, because it seemed like everything came down," Marsh related.

James Engelhaupt, leading the rescue attempt, said that "even with the biggest crane in the city" to help, "it's a matter of taking off one piece at a time."

Fire Chief John H. Waas said the chances of survival for the two men were slim.

Article Claims Jackie's Tears Saved Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — A tearful reconciliation cemented a rift that threatened to end the marriage of Aristotle Onassis and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in May 1970, the former chief steward aboard the Onassis yacht says.

Onassis had become irritated by a series of marital quarrels and suggested a separation, but his wife followed him to Paris and they made up, Christian Carafakis writes in the March issue of McCalls magazine.

Although Carafakis worked on the yacht "Christina," he drew on his access to other Onassis employes for the article, an excerpt from Carafakis' forthcoming book, "The Fabulous Onassis."

Onassis had pronounced the marriage a "total failure" and his wife silently accepted his suggestion of a separation during a confrontation in her New York City apartment, according to Carafakis.

The multimillionaire shipping magnate then flew to Paris and was photographed there that weekend with his former frequent companion, fiery opera star Maria Callas. The sight of the picture prompted Mrs. Onassis to fly to Paris, Carafakis claims.

By the time she arrived at Onassis' home "she looked exhausted, and when she took off her glasses her eyes were red and swollen from crying," Carafakis says.

POLLY'S POINTERS

'Curlered' Shoppers Are Her Pet Peeve

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with women who appear in public with their hair in curlers, especially in the supermarkets. I realize there may be times when it is necessary to dash to the store for some much-needed item but I am referring to those who are doing considerable shopping. I once read a joke where one woman phoned another and invited her to go along with her to the supermarket. The second lady replied, "Oh, I can't—I don't have my hair up in curlers."—MRS. H. G.

DEAR POLLY—Angela wrote that she had not been able to remove flower decals from the vinyl floor of her car and I had a similar problem with kitchen cabinets. I used a product sold at stores that sell decals. This is a treated sheet (mine cost five cents each) which is placed wet on the decal and left for from four to five hours. This worked well on metal cabinets and I think they would do as well on vinyl.—DOROTHY

DEAR ANGELA—First try a sheet on one decal that is on an inconspicuous spot, then, if all is well, plaster them on all the others.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Angela should be able to remove those flower decals from the vinyl floor of her car by applying warm vinegar.—CAROL

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I do hope some readers have ideas about displaying an antique pump that is about 17 inches high. This is the type that people once used inside their homes.—MRS. J. D. F.

DEAR POLLY—I have found the following Pointers very helpful in my role as secretary to a busy executive. When mailing several sheets that are stapled together at the top, fold the top third first and much of the bulkiness will ease out at the bottom.

Hardened glue will soften if a little vinegar is put in the container. Vinegar will also dissolve glue spots.

Save time by attaching alphabetical tabs at the beginning of each letter in your telephone book. You can quickly identify the name wanted without a lot of fumbling and searching.—RENA

Death From Heart Attack Unnecessary

It is estimated that more than 670,000 men and women will die of heart attack this year. This staggering number of fatalities is more than the individual population of half a dozen different states.

What is especially shocking is that more than half, or 350,000 of these fatalities will occur outside the hospital.

But, what is even more discouraging about these out - of - hospital deaths is that many of these men and women have "hearts too good to die." These are the heart attack victims that physicians predict could survive if they would act quickly to receive specialized hospital coronary care.

What can be done to prevent these needless deaths?

The answer is simple. People must learn to recognize and accept the warning signs of heart attack when they appear. and take immediate steps to receive medical attention.

When heart attack occurs, according to the Heart Association, these are the usual warning signs or symptoms:

* A prolonged heavy pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest behind the breastbone.

* The pain may also spread to the arms, shoulder, neck or jaw.

* The pain or discomfort is often accompanied by sweating, nausea, vomiting, and shortness of breath may occur.

Sometimes these symptoms may subside, and then return.

Studies in leading hospitals where heart attack victims were admitted to coronary care units reveal that the patients convinced themselves at the onset of symptoms that they were suffering from "indigestion," "stomach-aches," and a variety of other minor complaints.

No attempt was made by these patients to seek medical care until pain was so severe, that despite protests, a wife, relative, or friend intervened and either called the family physician, or got the sufferer to the hospital as fast as possible.

This delay in seeking treatment after symptoms appear is crucial, for the first few hours after heart attack is the critical period when sudden death is most likely to occur.

The most common complication that follows deprivation of an adequate supply of oxygen - bearing blood to the heart is ventricular fibrillation. This is where the muscle fibers of the heart contract incoordinately. and the blood - pumping ability of the heart fails. Unless the victim receives immediate treatment, sudden death occurs.

The results of delay in heeding the warning signs of heart attack can be read in the mortality statistics of men and women who fail to get immediate medical treatment.

It is estimated that if all heart attack victims who survive just a few hours were to receive specialized treatment in a hospital coronary care unit, then the annual feart attack fatalities could be reduced by up to 50,000 lives.

How the coronary care unit makes this possible will be discussed in the third and final article in this series.

Cancer Program Wednesday

NEW MADRID — A special program is to be held in New Madrid County Wednesday to acquaint women of all ages with facts about cancer.

A film, "Chance of a Lifetime," is to be shown. There will also be present a registered nurse to answer questions about the Missouri Cervical Cytology Project. This project is to demonstrate the values of a self- administered cervical "smear" in discovering early cases of cancer of the cervix or womb when it is in its most successfully treated stage. All women who have not had a Pap Test are invited to participate at no cost to them. We urge you to come and let us enroll you in this program, which would mean the difference between Life or Death.

This program is sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Missouri Regional Medical Program, and Missouri Division of Health.

The film will be shown on Wednesday, February 23, at 10 a.m. at the Dixie Theatre in New Madrid and at 1:30 p.m. at the Shannon Theatre in Portageville.

Almost everyone has lost someone dear to them by the disease known as cancer. Don't miss the opportunity to learn how this might be prevented. Come and bring your friends.

We'd be glad to get papers for our pup, but haven't discovered one yet that he can read.

Jackets Top Fashion List

Fashion in wearing seems to become more interesting each season. The number of "looks" available for the consumer offer a chance of individuality and self-expression.

The fashion look coming up has lots of exciting fashions waiting 'round the corner for the spring of '72. Jackets and toppers top the list. Jackets come in every conceivable shape and form....smock, blazer, workman's kimono, cardigan, and safari.

A strong Oriental influence is blowing in from the Far East and anythingwrapped and tied kimono-style will rank high in fashion look.

Skirts are important with all those jackets. For the "put-together" look make the jacket, shirt and skirt in different fabric. Skirt lengths are anywhere and everywhere.

There will be more dresses around this spring than there has been in years. The dress is appearing in the shirtdress style, along with the wrap dress with the swirly skirt and pouf shoulders, the scoopy drawstring neckline. After all, there is nothing so feminine as a dress.

Somewhere there's a sea wind bringing in a nautical look. The middy jackets, sailor pants, sailor hats and nautical prints will add the salt seasoning for the look of the sea.

Now is the time to begin to think and to plan. What's ahead can prove to be fun and exciting with the wide range of fashions from which to make your choices. You may choose, interpret and create a springtime image that is you and only you.

Ann Landers

One Town In U.S. Reports No Crime

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the 16-year-old girl who asked if there is a city or town in the United States that is safe. When she was a little girl the doors of her home were never locked, people went everyplace without fear. But all that has changed. Muggings, holdups, assaults, rape, murder -- everything you can imagine has happened in her town in the past five years and people are afraid to walk two blocks from their homes after dark.

I would like to tell that girl about the town I live in. It's beautiful. No one here locks his doors. I have never heard of a rape or a killing -- or even a major robbery. I don't know of anyone whose house has been broken into.

The name of out town is Mechanic Falls, Maine. I want to live here the rest of my life. I'll bet there are many other peaceful towns in America and your readers have written to tell you about them. I do hope you will choose my letter to print. It would be a fine compliment to the good people here. Thank you. --Contentment in Maine.

Dear Contentment: Here it is, along with my warm regards to you and the other residents of Mechanic Falls. You had no competition, dear. I didn't receive even one other letter from a reader telling me his town was free of crime. I hope your letter doesn't change things up there.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been arguing and we need an outside point of view. Please help.

George won a sales contest and the prize is a five-day trip to Bermuda. Neither of us has ever been there and we are awfully excited about it.

Our daughters 15 and 12, are mature and responsible. We've never had any trouble with them. When we hear about the problems our friends are having with their teen-agers we consider ourselves lucky. The girls insist it would be perfectly O.K. to leave them alone in the house. I'm uneasy about doing it even though I'm sure thay can be trusted. We live on a safe street in a good neighborhood.

The older girl has been a sitter for two years and she says it would make no sense for us to hire someone to sit with her. My husband's answer: "NO DICE." What do you say? -- In The Middle

Dear In: I say NO DICE, also. This in no way suggests the girls can't be trusted, but there are darned few places like Mechanic Falls, Maine, Lady. Hire an older woman to come in and stay with your daughters. Or perhaps a relative can help out.

P.S. When you're in Bermuda, look for me in the Mid-Ocean News in Hamilton. It's a nifty paper.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you don't believe in love at first sight and neither do I, but listen: Yesterday this dream of a man walked into the office where I am a receptionist and asked to be directed to Mr. L's office. The moment his eyes met mine something marvelous happened. When he spoke, his voice was like Johnny Carson's. I knew instantly something big was coming into my life.

Fifteen minutes later he came back and asked if I had plans for dinner. I said no. Well, Ann, that was the most divine evening of my entire life. The man is divorced, my age, an atheist (which means we would have no religious problems) and we are in love. He lives in Paducah and promised to be back in two weeks. Please tell me that love at first sight IS possible. I was dumped twice this last year and I need a dream to hang onto. --Star Eyes

Dear Eyes: O.K., Doll, if you need a dream, this is it. But don't mistake it for reality. Chemistry isn't love. This relationship may evolve into something meaningful but love must take root and grow --- one day at a time.

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with 16 cents worth of stamps to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Third Child Stricken With Mercury Poisoning Comes Home

ALAMAGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Ernestine Huckleby, one of three children stricken by mercury poisoning more than two years ago after they ate pork from a home-butchered hog, has left the hospital.

The 10-year-old can't feed herself, can't talk, and can't see. Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Huckleby, said Wednesday night, "I'm just so tickled about having her home again. I'd like to tell everyone about my blessings and thank God."

The youngster had been home from a local hospital for day visits, her mother said, "but when we took her back to the hospital at night she cried every time because she was lonely."

Since Monday, she has been home full time.

"All she can do yet is to smile when we tell her a joke. The people at the hospital wanted us to have her sent to a different hospital rather than let us bring her home," her mother said. "I prayed to the Lord to bless me by letting Ernestine come home and he answered my prayers."

Doctors traced the mercury poisoning that afflicted Ernestine and two older Huckleby children to seed grain that had been treated with a mercury compound and then fed to the butchered hog.

The older children—Jean, now 22, and Amos, now 15—have been home for some time after spending several months in a rehabilitation center at Roswell.

All three children suffered severe brain damage, doctors said. Like Ernestine, Amos is blind, but Dorothy Jean has regained much of her sight.

Dorothy Jean now gets around by herself with the help of crutches and is going to night school to finish junior high.

"She called out to me and was all excited about how she was getting along," Mrs. Huckleby said, recalling a day in December when Dorothy Jean tried walking in a hall without crutches.

"Dorothy was bouncing from wall to wall, but she was able to go a short distance by herself," Mrs. Huckleby said. "She can wash clothes and is a lot of help to me these days."

"Amos can give himself a bath now, and he can move anywhere on the couch by himself without having to have help," his mother said. "Amos is doing well."

New Foods Added To Weight Watchers Program

Potatoes, margarine, cereal and mayonnaise, have been added to the new Weight Watchers program, that was introduced last week to all Weight Watchers classes directed by Sandie and Joe Folender, directors of Weight Watchers of Greater Missouri and Illinois.

The new program is the first major change since its inception almost a decade ago. Recognized as the world's most successful weight reduction program, it brings to members many foods that were not previously permitted.

A second major phase in the new program is the introduction of the "Leveling Plan." Members who reach a weight 10 pounds above goal can begin this new plan, designed to assist Weight Watchers in losing those 10 pounds before going on the Maintenance Plan.

The new program has been designed by Weight Watchers International nutrition experts, Miss Fay Burnett and Dr. William E. Sebrell. It was developed from new findings, facts, learned by scientists studying the body's need for certain substances in food. These discoveries, now inserted into the program, makes certain all members receive the vital elements the body needs to maintain it in strong and healthy condition.

Mrs. Folender explained, "The new program is based on food values. It contains the proper combination of vitamins, minerals and calories and is not based on calorie count alone."

To the member it means an "exciting new program," that takes in taste preferances while allowing excess weight to be lost with a Maintenance Plan to follow to keep it lost forever.

Still think $499 is expensive? For a conventional range, maybe, but this one's more than a range, it's a total cooking system in a beautiful package. You get a smooth sheet of easy-care glass-ceramic with four thermostatically controlled heating units underneath to give you precise cooking without constant pot-watching. That's why flat-bottomed pans are so important and why we include a set of five Cookmates® cookware. All this plus a pyrolytic self-cleaning feature that gets the oven as clean as a whistle. The oven is large enough (23" wide, 16" high, 18½" deep) to take even holiday meals in stride.

The all new Counterange™ electric range Model DB

419 Teams Enter Regionals

Regional basketball tournament action got underway in the Kearney Class M regional and Green City Class S event Saturday night to tipoff a week long affair that will find 16 teams in each class beginning the state tournament next week.

A total of 419 schools will take part in the tournaments with 213 entered in Class S. and 206 in Class M. Some regionals are split with first and second round games being played at separate sites in accord with geographical areas to permit as many games as possible to be played with a minimum amount of transportation and loss of school time.

The purpose of the tournament series is to give each school the opportunity to demonstrate and evaluate, in comparison with other schools throughout the state, the knowledge, skills and emotional patterns that have been taught through interscholastic basketball. An important factor in each school's interscholastic program is the sportsmanship tropy awarded at each state tournament to schools whose players, coaches, cheerleaders and fans display the best sportsmanship.

The winners of the sixteen regionals in each class will advance to first round state games at ten different sites across the state. Quarterfinal games are planned for Kirksville, New Haven, Nixa and Warrensburg in Class S and Kearney, Cape Girardeau, Troy and Willard in Class M.

The Class M semifinal and finals are scheduled for March 3-4 at the University of Missouri at Columbia and the Class S semifinal and final games at the University of Missouri at Rolla also March 3-4.

Listed below are the four probable strongest teams in each regional as seeded by the regional tournament committee. Among the factors considered in seeding teams are won and lost records and a comparison of the competition played during the season.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

WHO WILL be the Southeast Missouri representatives in the state high school Class M and S basketball tournaments next week?

That's the main question I'll answer in this column today as the Daily Standard sports staff joins with me in predicting the outcome of the district regionals.

Due to uncontrolable circumstances I've been unable to present this column daily, but did manage to get out a daily column during the Holiday tournaments and for a few games immediately after the first of the year and sport a 49 of 60 mark for a 816 average in my effort.

My colleagues, Bill Harrison, Harry Davis and Dale Forbis have passed along their thoughts on the eventual winners of the four district regionals and we'll discuss those after we give you a first hand look at tonight's first round action.

CLASS M REGIONAL
At Senath

Senath-Hornersville vs. Portageville --- It'sbeen a long season for Coach Bob Kelso's Bulldogs, but it shouldn't last over 32 minutes of playing time tonight as the Lions begin to roar toward the final. Senath 72, Portageville 47.

Hayti vs. Malden --- Beware of the Indians? They were upset last season in the final of the Southern event and have their sights set on a trip to the state event his season ... But Malden shouldn't be overlooked ... They've been tough at times during the campaign. Hayti 77, Malden 61.

East Prairie vs. Campbell -- This should be a rather interesting contest although neither team is considered a threat for the finals, both would like to add another win to their depleted victory column. Our pick is East Prairie 65, Campbell 63.

At Bloomfield

Bernie vs. Doniphan -- Don't be surprised if coach Jack McGown's Mules make a little noise in this week long event. They'll begin with tonight's game. Bernie 61, Doniphan 56.

Notre Dame vs. Chaffee --- I figure this to be one of the better first round matchups. . . The Red Devils have a tremendous one- two scoring punch in Thomas – Dooley while the Bulldogs have a balanced attack . . . It'll be interesting and beneficial for coach J. F. Dopp's CHS cagers to win this game and advance further for some added experience for his underclassmen dominated unit. But I figure the Dogs have too much balance and depth. . . Notre Dame 71, Chaffee 60.

Puxico vs. Neelyville --- It's been almost 10 years ago to the date that John Sheehy stared on the Wildcat hardwoods for the Bernie Mules and paced them into the state tournament and second place . ... It'll be nice if he can coach his Indians into the same position. They've been tough at times during the campaign and have the potential to go all the way . . . At least they'll make it past the first round... Puxico 81, Neelyville 59.

CLASS M REGIONAL
At Matthews

Cooter vs. Matthews --- This traditional battle has been part of the class S regionals for three straight seasons ... Cooter's season has ended fast and the Pirates have advanced through the event and into the state tournament. . . It seems they are headed in the same path. Matthews 85, Cooter 67.

Parma vs. Clarkton -- Over the year's the Parma Pirates have been known for their regional tournament play ... In the past ten years PHS quintets have placed among the top four in seven of those years ... They face the event's second seeded quintet, but have the potential to record the night's first upset ... Clarkton has been stumbling of late and I'll go with my alma mater... PHS... Parma 70, Clarkton 67.

AT ZALMA

Bell City vs. Leopold --- These two teams will battle to get into the tournament bracket, thus making it a long road to the finals... This should be a real tough contest as both clubs seek to add to their victory column more than to survive the tournament. We favor Bell City... BCHS 59, LHS 55.

College High vs. Advance ---The state's seven rated Hornets should have little trouble in this battle or any other in this half of the Matthews tournament... But the going gets tough for the AHS cagers when they venture to MHS for the semifinals and possible final berth. Advance 101, College High 57.

ST. VINCENT VS. ORAN — Can coach Joe Scott's Eagles regain the form used to place second in the famed Bloom field Christmas tournament...IF so the Eagles will be unstopable...Tonight's contest will be a good test...Oran 66, St. Vincent 62,

AT SOUTH IRON

Valle vs. Bunker ---Although Bunker has been unrated in the district basketball polls, they are one of the toughest if not the toughest teams in the West half of the SEMO district....They'll have little trouble this week... Bunker 71, Valle 48.

Marquand vs. Viburnum...After a lengthy discussion with officals of this event... we've come to the conclusion that this battle will be the best of first round play..... Viburnum is seeded fourth and Marquand fifth....and I've called an upset...Marquand 63, Viburnum 61.

AT COUCH

Koshkonong vs. Couch---Beware of the Indians!!! Coach Stan Whitson's cagers have their sights set on a trip to Sikeston for a first round state Class S tournament game.....I've got them picked to survive the Annapolis event....They'll start with a 77-56 first round verdict.

Naylor vs. Winona—I'll go with another upset.....Naylor will survive the first round test against the fourth seeded cagers....Naylor 62, Winona 57.

NOW for a look toward next week's state tournaments.

Out of the Southern regional at Senath will come the host Lions to pit their talents against the Northern Winning, Richland Rebels....But don't count our Hayti and Lilbourn in the South and Scott Central and Kelly in the North, my colleagues advise....

In the Eastern Class S regional at Matthews our pick is the Pirates while the Couch Indians are our favorites to make it through the Western event at Annapolis....But Advance and Oran have been mentioned as the East titlest and Bunker and South Iron as the West winners.....

We'll find out how good our predictions are by 9 p.m. Saturday night when the final champion will be crowned. Title games of the Senath, Bloomfield and Matthews regionals will be Friday night.

K-State Closes In On Big 8 Leader

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas State can move into a tie for first place in the Big Eight basketball chase tonight when it hosts last place Oklahoma State.

The Wildcats, 7-2, manuevered into this position with a handy 68-54 decision over Iowa State at Ames Saturday. Missouri, 8-2, sustained its margin with a 59-52 defeat of Colorado in Columbia.

Nebraska humbled Kansas, Big Eight defending champion, 99-73 at Lincoln and Oklahoma clipped Oklahoma State 80-73 in Stillwater.

Following Missouri and Kansas State in the standings are Nebraska, 7-3, Oklahoma, 6-3, Kansas, 5-5, Iowa State, 3-8, Colorado, 2-7, and Oklahoma State, 1-9.

After tonight, both Kansas State and Missouri have two road and two home games. The Wildcats take to the road for contests against Oklamoma and Missouri while they entertain Colorado and Nebraska.

The Tigers play at Kansas and Nebraska while Kansas State and Oklahoma pay calls at Columbia.

K-State used slowdown tactics in the final 11 and a half minutes to fashion its victory over ISU. Lon Kruger, stylish playmaking guard from Silver Lake, Kan., headed the Wildcats with 20 points.

"Kruger did a heckuva job. For a sophomore he does a tremendous job under pressure," said KSU Coach Jack Hartman. "He doesn't look like a sophomore at times."

Chief Cyclone was Martinez Denmon who scored 14 points.

Missouri, 15th in national ratings, turned in its poorest shooting performance of the campaign in downing the Buffaloes. The Tigers had only a 35 per cent average but Colorado's average was one point less than that.

Greg Flaker of Missouri and Jim Creighton of Colorado each had 16 points.

Nebraska's point total was the highest scored against the Jayhawks by a Big Eight team and only stall measures by KU prevented the Cornhuskers from exceeding the century mark.

Neither Joe Cipriano, NU coach, nor Ted Owens, KU mentor, made a move to shake hands after the contest. Cipriano, whose Huskers suffered a 57-55 overtime defeat at Lawrence, savored the victory. "This one was worth waiting for," he said.

Chuck Jura scored 33 points for Nebraska while Bud Stallworth had 28 for Kansas.

Oklahoma put down a late insurrection in turning back OSU. Bobby Jack scored 20 points for the Sooners while Scott Martin chipped in 19 and Andrew Pettes 18. The Cowboys were paced by Jerry Clack's 18 points.

Colorado is at Kansas in tonight's only other conference contest. Big Eight teams are then idle until Saturday when Missouri is at Kansas and Kansas State is at Oklahoma in day, televised games. Nebraska goes to Colorado in a night clash.

TRCC Raiders Face Paducah Tonight

POPLAR BLUFF — Three Rivers Community College recorded their 20th victory of the season Saturday night and moved into a tie for the conference lead with a 58-56 decision over Jefferson County.

Steve Reynolds scored 15 points and Larry Wills and Henry Hall added 10 and 11 points respectively as the Raiders fought off a late game JC rush for the victory. Wills headed up the TRCC rebounding with 10 grabs and newly activated starter, Craig Millham, pulled down eight.

Three Rivers rushed to a 34-24 first half lead, and held on for the win.

Coach Gene Bess's cagers face the national fourth ranked Paducah Junior College cagers tonight at 7:30 p. m. at Poplar Bluff high school gym.

Scoring:

THREE RIVERS (58)
Baker 7, Hall 11, Lawrence 9, Millham 6, Reynolds 15, Wills 10.
Totals: FG -- 22; FT -- 14: PF -- 18.

JEFFERSON (56)
Cornejo 7, Young 13, Moton 11, Zekwer 2, Kelly 9, Mackey 12, Poliak 2.
Totals: FG -- 19; FT -- 18; PF -- 17.

Foyt Wins Daytona 500

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A. J. Foyt, just a month past his 37th birthday, has finally become a member in good standing of what is known among Southern stock car drivers as "The Good Ole Boy's Club."

He won the Daytona 500, most prestigious of all the big money events for stock sedans Sunday and he did it in such convincing fashion that several NASCAR regulars went to victory lane to clap him on his sweat-stained shoulders.

"If it couldn't have been one of us, I'm glad it was him," said fourth-place finisher Benny Parsons, an ex-Detroit cab driver. Parsons, long a member of the "club," was born in North Wilkesboro, N.C.

The only other leader was Bobby Allison, No. 2 in 1971 winnings behind Petty.

Robinson, Wills Sign-Pacts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson and Maury Wills, the heart of the Los Angeles Dodgers' pennant hopes, have signed their 1972 baseball contracts for a total estimated near a quarter-million dollars.

Robinson, the 36-year-old outfielder acquired from the Baltimore Orioles for four players during the winter, signed Sunday for about $140,000. It was $10,000 more than he made with the Orioles and $10,000 less than he was seeking with his new team.

Wills, the longtime shortstop and team leder, joined the Dodgers for a salary in the $100,000 range.

Robinson and Wills were the biggest names in a day of player signings that also included Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees.

Murcer, the Yankees' leading hitter last season with a .331 average, signed for $65,000.

Shortstop Gene Alley signed for an estimated $25,000 with the Pittsburgh Pirates, leaving only two of the World Champions unsigned—shortstop Fran Taveras and pitcher Nelson Briles.

In Casa Grande, Ariz., San Francisco Giants President Horace Stoneham arrived at camp asking the whereabouts of his pitching mainstay, Juan Marichal.

Not only did Stoneham express surprise at the absence of Marichal, who reportedly seeks a $150,000 contract, but he said.

"I don't even know how much he wants because he's never contacted me.

Upsets Top College Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Bill Gibson, in a state of mild shock, wondered aloud how his sixth-ranked Virginia basketball team had lost to beleagured Duke.

Then he volunteered the answer, unsolicited.

"Our shooting was atrocious," said Gibson after Duke bedeviled Virginia 86-76 Saturday night.

He didn't stop there, however.

"It was disgraceful the way we played," Gibson said. "I'm discouraged and disappointed at this point. This is not how the game of basketball was meant to be played."

The Blue Devils, who also upset third-ranked North Carolina earlier this season, have been rocked by player losses. Several left the team, including second-leading scorer Richie O'Connor a couple of weeks ago.

Virginia was one of three Top Ten teams which had a lost weekend. Illinois upset No. 8 Ohio State 64-62 in a Big Ten match and Houston beat South Carolina 95-85 in a battle of major independents.

Top-ranked UCLA walloped Washington 100-83 as Bill Walton scored 31 points and grabbed 15 reounds. It was the Bruins' 20th victory this season without a defeat and their 165th in the last 170 games.

Second-ranked Marquette, playing without standout center Jim Chones for the first time, turned back Creighton 70-61 for its 22nd victory; North Carolina clobbered Notre Dame 99-74; No. 4 Louisville took Wichita State 69-60; No. 5 Penn beat Yale 71-62; No. 9 Long Beach State trimmed Pacific 86-62 and No. 10 Marshall crashed North Carolina-Charlotte 89-69.

Duke had an uneasy 40-36 halftime lead but broke it open with 74 per cent shooting in the second half.

After Virginia pulled to 55-54 with less than 12 minutes remaining, Chris Redding scored 12 straight points for the Blue Devils in a 14-4 rip that gave the winners some room.

Ohio State killed its own chances with a sub-standard performance from the foul line, sinking only 12 of 28 shots.

"We missed enough free throws to win a lot of games," said Coach Fred Taylor.

Yet the Buckeyes still had a chance to tie the game with four seconds left but threw the ball wild on an inbounds pass.

"We were trying to lob the ball to the backside," said Taylor.

"We had enough opportunites to win the game, but didn't," said Taylor. "I'm not trying to take anything away from Illinois. They got every loose ball there was in the last seven minutes. Their man-to-man hurt us. It gave them momentum and we couldn't get the ball inside. Our guard pentration left a great deatl to be desired."

While free thorws hurt the Buckeyes, they helped Illinois. The winners connected on 34 of 46.

"It was a very agressive game and the way we were shooting, we really needed a lot of free throws," said Illinois Coach Harve Schmidt. "I don't think we have played a man-toman defense any more aggressively.'

Houston rallied from a sixpoint deficit to trim South Carolina behind Dwight Davis' 26 points and 13 rebounds.

"This was a big game, but they're all big games for us now," said Davis, referring to Houston's wish for a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

"Of course, this was our biggest game," said Houston Coach Guy Lewis, who figures the Cougars need 18 victories to make the post-season playoffs. They've won 17.

Marquette, which had been winning close games all season with Chones, didn't have any easier time of it without him. The star signed a pro contract last week with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

The Warriors trailed by 10 points late in the first half, but shot 82 per cent in a second half rally led by Larry McNeill, Chones' replacement at center.

"When we were 10 points down we needed a big man back there," said Marquette captain Bob Lackey. "But we looked around and saw Big Man Chones ain't here and we gotta do it ourselves."

In games involving the rest of the ranked teams, No. 11 Brigham Young whipped Utah 79-66; No. 12 Southwestern Louisiana stopped St. Leo 11649; 13th ranked Provindence smashed Holy Cross 104-68; No. 14 Florida State blasted Georgia Tech 108-50; 15th-rated Missouri tripped Colorado 59-52; No. 16 Hawaii defeated Oklahoma City 109-95; 17th-ranked Kentucky trimmed Florida 9568; No. 18 Memphis State nipped St. Louis 78-70; No. 19 Maryland beat Clemson 67-57 and No. 20 Tennessee turned back Georgia 71-68 in overtime.

Lincoln Claims Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lincoln University kept its league record unblemished this week with two victories to sew up the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association title while runnerup Missouri-Rolla dropped into a second place tie with Southeast Missouri State.

Lincoln thumped Northwest Missouri State in Maryville 6965 Saturday and Missouri-Rolla 81-79 earlier inhe week to clinch the title, while Southwest Missouri spilled Missouri-Rolla 7758 to drop the Miners out of the contending spot.

Among the independents, Missouri-St. Louis with a 16-4 record and Culver-Stockton at 19-5 seem favored to win spots in regional NCAA and NAIA playoffs. Missouri-St. Louis will meet William Jewell tonight in St. Louis and a victory by Jewell could also give them a spot in the NAIA regional.

Other independents that showed improvement were Missouri Western which has won 9 of its last 13 games and Park which won three times to climb to a 10-9 record.

The Newspaper Story

NEWSPAPERS MAKE A BIG DIFFERENCE IN PEOPLE'S LIVES

If you just stop to think of it, newspapers make a BIG difference in people's lives every day. People need all the information they can get concerning the many social, economic and political problems of the day in order to act responsibly and prudently.

And it makes a big difference to people whether threats of nuclear war are increasing or waning . . . . whether taxes are going up or down . . . whether fire and police protection are adequate . . . whether the business outlook is good or bad . . . whether their food, air and water is being polluted . . . what merchants are offering . . who won the big game . . . it makes a big difference in a hundred ways in people's lives every day.

It has been truly said that a city or town is the feflection of its newspaper. Good newspapers are found in good, wideawake, aggressive towns. And vice versa.

Adoption of newspapers as "Living Textbooks" in school classrooms throughout the United States is growing by leaps and bounds. Recognition by educators and teachers of the importance of newspapers as the major means of acquainting young people with their rapidly changing world scene is increasing. No bound textbook can keep up with it.

Newspapers are being used in thousands of classrooms to afford practice in basic reading skills, to learn composition and literature, to improve verbal facility and vocabulary development, and to enrich pupils' understanding in social studies, science, mathematics, home economics and other subjects.

Meat, Poultry Has Bacteria That Poisons

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A U.S. Food and Drug Administration official says tests have indicated more than half of some kinds of meat and poultry contains bacteria that could cause food poisoning.

Dr. Oliver W. Kaufmann of the FDA's training center in Cincinnati, Ohio, said in an interview here the tests have been conducted principally in Atlanta, Chicago and Cincinnati. He said the tests are considered representative of other cities.

Kaufmann emphasized, however, that if meat is properly cooked it is unlikely to affect those eating it.

JOHN

John, the son of Zebedee, was called by Jesus to be part of the inner circle of leadership. This apostle was a cousin to Jesus, as was his brother James, the Apostle. They were operating a fishing business near Capernaum before embarking on the journeys planned by Jesus.

Around every great world leader are those who carry personal confidence and trust. Such was John, "whom Jesus loved." Whether on the Mount of Transfiguration and its heights of divine revelation, or in Gethsemane and its course of human despair, they were the close companions of Christ: Peter, James and John. And in the harrowing hours of the Cross, Jesus turned to John and gave His mother, Mary, into his care. And this trust was not misplaced. John preached with boldness and continued the ministry of Jesus.

JAMES

Christian history is very honest about the reaction of the people who were said to be Jesus' brothers and sisters toward His ministry of teaching and healing: They were opposed. Jesus observed on one occasion that a prophet was without honor in his own house. At least one Scripture source recalls the time that His family tried "to take him away," so worried and apprehensive had they become over His public ministry.

Heading the family opposition may have been James, the oldest, and direction may have fallen on his shoulders. Joseph is no longer mentioned, believed to have died years earlier. Jesus' determination to preach the coming of the Kingdom of God must have annoyed James intensely: more work and supervision for him of a poor and struggling, fatherless family. Yet in God's providence, James is among the first to see the Risen Christ, to believe in the Resurrection and to take his place in church history. As head of the Jersualem Church, he was wise and courageous—the hallmark of belief.

Streets were filled from curb to curb in some sections of town, the levee or dyke north of the city caused concern for some time, a highway culvert east of the city slowed up traffic, and the furnace room of the new highway garage was flooded with 13 feet of water, damaging the heat plant and auxiliary equipment.

Plane To Be Scraped

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) – Howard Hughes' "Spruce Goose"—one of the world's largest airplanes which turned out to be a lame duck—may be headed for the chopping block.

Twenty-nine years ago the federal government gave Hughes, the billionaire industrialist, a contract to build a giant experimental plywood seaplane.

For $40 million it got the "Spruce Goose." The eight-propeller craft flew only one time, for one mile and reached an altitude of 70 feet.

Now it is reported the government may try to get some of its investment back by selling the plane.

Tueday the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram quoted a spokesman for the General Services Administration in Washington as saying the government might sell the 140-ton plane through competitive bidding when the plane's lease expires June 30.

Hughes spokesmen were not available for comment.

Hughes, who supervised construction and was at the controls in 1947 when the Spruce Goose made its flight, leases it for $800 a month. He pays the Long Beach Harbor Department $36,000 a year for a secluded hangar hiding the plane, which has a 320-foot wingspan.

There were no reports of prospective buyers.

In recent years the Harbor Department has threatened to evict the "Spruce Goose" and return the hangar to more active uses. On Monday the Harbor Commission received a request from the Hughes Tool Co. for a one-year extension of its current lease, which expires Sept. 4.

What's The Law

Advertiser Not Liable

THE CASE OF THE HALOED PUBLISHER
By Jack Strauss, LL.B

Wilbur, newspaper publisher, was as straight-laced as a corset. To him, propriety wasn't a word, it was a way of life. Consequently, when a motion-picture operator submitted advertising to be printed in his newspaper for a so-called "adult" film, Wilbur flipped his halo with indignation. And, adhering to his motto of "Stop, look and less sin," he refused to publish it.

In due course, the motion-picture operator sued Wilbur for damages. Indoing so, he asserted that he had sustained very substantial losses at the box office because Wilbur had turned thumbs down on his advertising.

"Of course I turned it down," responded Wilbur in court. "And I had a right to do it. It was a smutty picture. Inst ad of shooting the film, they should have shot the producer."

"The trouble with Wilbur is that he's too prudish," was the answer. "If he had his way, he'd put pants on animals. Since he wasn't a censor and the film wasn't even banned in Boston, he had a duty, as a publisher, to print my advertising. Since he refused to do it, he should be held liable."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the haloed publisher pay damages for turning thumbs down on the advertising?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a newspaper is strictly a private enterprise with no obligation to accept advertising that it chooses not to accept. (Based upon a 1966 Michigan Court of Appeals Decision)

Kuehle Announces His Candidacy

St. Louis (AP) – Harold D. Kuehle, Cape Girardeau County collector, announced in St. Louis Friday that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state.

Kuehle scheduled news conferences at Kansas City and Springfield later in the day to discuss his candidacy.

"In traveling about the state in recent weeks and talking with citizens in all walks of life, I found them to be disturbed about what has been going on in their state government in Jefferson City," said the 36 year-old Kuehle.

The only candidate who has filed thus far for secretary of state is the incumbent, James C. Kirkpatrick, a Democrat. He was the first candidate to file after the 1970 general election.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

"The king will reply, 'I assure you that whatever you did for the humblest of my brothers you did for me.'" —Matthew 25:40

PRAYER: O God, crator and lover of man, have mercy upon Thy suffering children in every land. Heal the social ills that cause them to suffer. Bring to Thy healing power, truth, peace, love and blessings. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Transportation Bond Endorsed By St. Louis C Of C

ST. LOUIS (AP) – Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' proposed $730 million transportation bond issue was endorsed Thursday by the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Chamber President William L. Behan Jr., called for support from state and local leaders.

"The improvement of our state highway system and a start on rapid transit development in St. Louis and Kansas City is a program all Missourians must support if we are to adequately meet our state's future transportation needs." Behan said.

"What good do funeral services do for the living?"

People who ask this question are missing the point. Funeral services are primarily for the living . . . for the survivors who face this difficult task of re-adjustment. It is their satisfaction and peace of mind that we strive for at Nunnelee Funeral Home.

Dear Mr. Blanton,

This letter is in reply to an article recently appearing in your paper regarding price fixing . in the local area funeral homes. The first question that I have is why were the funeral homes at Cape, Cairo, Kennett, St. Louis and Joplin not included in the charges brought. For one year I worked with one of the Funeral Homes mentioned in this suit, McMikle in Charleston. While there it was my duty to work on all insurance papers submitted to the funeral home for payment of premiums. To the best of my ability I never collected any moneys for the Insurance Co. mentioned, nor have I ever heard of them until I read your article in the paper. When a person works with someone they get to know them closer than just a social acquaintance. I have the utmost confidence in the McMikle Funeral Homes of Charleston and East Prairie. My mother and father have their insurance there and I would not have it any other way. I know the respect that these people have for those that have lost a loved one and it is real respect and sorrow. You will never find a person who requires anymore reverance for the Ministry that he is in than, Elgin McMikle. The word ministry may surprise some, but I can assure everyone that this is the way that he and Mrs. McMikle feel about their business. I have seen both of them with tears in their eyes at the loss of a friend and fellow citizen.

With regard to price fixing I happen to know that one price was put on a funeral and that was the price that was shown to all the public. There was not one price for one family and another one for another. I know, for when stock was replaced, I put the original price on the merchandise. I also happen to know that there was a cost increase on certain items for the funeral home but this exorbed by the business and not one dime of the additional expense was passed on to the public.

No one can tell me that this firm was ever involved in price fixing, for if so I would have known since I worked with the books. For some one to say that the McMikle Funeral Homes were involved in price fixing is a lie from the pit of Hell.

Forgive us dear Lord we pray
Of all our sins and wicked ways
And be with us both night and day
And guide our footsteps along the way
Teach us also to sing and pray
And to walk that straight and narrow way
So that on the great Judgment Day
That we will with Thee forever stay.

Four Die In Blaze

WARSAW, Mo. (AP) — Three teen-age boys lost their lives early Sunday when they dashed back into a burning hay-filled barn in an attempt to rescue a fourth victim.

Benton County sheriff's deputy Darrell Fishback, said the youths were spending the night in the barn when sparks from a fire in a barrel being used for warmth started the blaze.

The barn, on the Ted Schneider farm southwest of Warsaw, Mo., was destroyed.

The victims were identified as Randy Gunn, 16, Larry Simpson, 17, William Roney Smith, 16, and Ken Polly, 16. A fifth youth, Jim Polly, was treated for smoke inhalation.

The deputy said one of the youths awoke to find the barn in flames, and alerted the others. They fled, but when it was discovered one of their number was missing, three youths reenetered the building to find the missing boy, and all four were trapped in the fire.

Meeting With Top Leaders

March For Peace Asked By Nixon

PEKING (AP) — President Nixon met today with China's top leaders, holding separate talks with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai. Then, at a banquet in his honor, he said he was appealing to them to "start a long march together" with the United States toward peace.

"Not in lockstep," the President said, "but on different roads toward the same goal."

Both sides acknowledged the wide differences between Communist China and capitalist America but both expressed a desire for peaceful relations without compromising principles.

Nixon's remarks were made at an informal banquet given by the Chinese for him and Mrs. Nixon in the Great Hall of the People off to one side of Tien An Men Square—the Square of Heavenly Peace.

At the banquet, Chou spelled out China's terms for the establishment of diplomatic relations between Washington and Peking.

And the President told Chou there is no need for the United States and China to be enemies, as they have been for the past 20 years.

It was the final event of Nixon's historic arrival day on the Chinese mainland as the first American president ever to do so.

He had spent an hour with Chairman Mao, the 78-year-old supreme leader of Chinese communism. Afterward the meeting was described as "frank and serious" by both the Americans and the Chinese. In Communist phraseology, frank and serious usually means disagreement.

Then the President conferred with Premier Chou.

Next came the banquet for the Nixons and the other Americans with them. A Chinese band played American and Chinese tunes and the Nixons ate with chopsticks.

Chou sat next to the Nixons during the dinner and made his proposals for diplomatic relations in his toasts.

Americans and Chinese are both great peoples who have always been friendly to each other "but owing to reasons known to all, the contacts between the two peoples were suspended for over 20 years," Chou said.

But, he added, the gates to friendship have been opened by a desire of both Americans and Chinese for a relaxation of tensions.

"The social systems of China and of the United States are fundamentally different, and there are great differences between the two governments," Chou said "However these differences should not hinder China and the United States from establishing normal relations on the basis of five principles: (1) of mutual respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of nations, (2) of mutual nonaggression, (3) of noninterference in internal affairs, (4) of mutual equality, and (5) of peaceful coexistence."

These are the points that Chou laid down at the Bandung conference in 1955. This was an Asian nonaligned meeting in Bandung, Indonesia.

Nixon responded to Chou's toast by noting that if China and the United States remain enemies the future of the world is dark. He said common interests bring the United States and China together now to trascend their differences.

"As we discuss our differences," the President added, "neither of us will compromise our principles. Although we cannot close the gulf between us, we can try to bridge it so that we may be able to talk across it.

"And so let us in these next five days start a long march together. Not in lockstep but on different roads to the same goal: a goal of building a world structure of peace and justice in which all may stand together with equal dignity, in which each nation, large or small, has a right to determine its own form of government free of outside interference or domination."

"The world watches, the world listens, the world waits to see what we will do," Nixon asserted.

Near the start of his response to Chou's toast, Nixon had declared: "What we say here will not be long remembered. What we do here can change the world."

He complimented the Chinese band that played for the diners, saying: "I have never heard American music played better in a foreign land."

Among other selections, the band played the national anthem of each country.

The President and Mrs. Nixon sat with Chou at a table for 20 in the center of the Great Hall. The others sat at round tables for 10.

Mrs. Nixon, wearing an informal short red velvet suit with high neck and long sleeves, sat at Chou's left and the President at his right.

Both Nixons ate with chopsticks and the Chinese hosts occasionally leaned over to serve a tidbit to the First Lady.

Nixon met Mao between 3 and 4 p.m. at the chairman's home. With the President was Henry A. Kissinger, his special adviser. Chou accompanied them to the house along with Wang Hai-yung, deputy director of protocol, and an interpreter from the Foreign Ministry.

Mao did not meet Nixon at the airport on his arrival in late morning, but this was not unusual.

After the Mao meeting the 59year-old American President had his first formal talk with Premier Chou, 73. A number of others are likely to follow in the week-long visit. There was no indication of what they discussed.

Nixon's first day in China was sunny with the temperatures in the middle 30s.

There were no speeches at his arrival at the airport.

Nixon had expressed his hopes for his historic visit during a stopover in Guam.

No major break-throughs were expected on such issues as the Vietnam war or the future of Taiwan, seat of Nationalist China's government. Nixon himself emphasized the getacquainted nature of his mission, telling newsmen aboard his plane, "Because of a lack of communications, we are a mystery to them, as they are a mystery to us."

Hughes Seeks Airplane Sale

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Mystery billionaire Howard Hughes is here to discuss the sale of airplanes and a possible airline merger—and perhaps to find peace, the president of Nicaragua says.

Stepping off a twin-jet plane to a 21-gun artillery salute and military band music after a state visit to Panama, President Anastasio Somoza spoke of Hughes' visit as he told newsmen:

"Let's not make so much fanfare about the matter. If he wants to be respected and let alone, that's his business....

"As a human being I respect his right to keep his privacy. My belief is that he came to Nicaragua because he believes in this country, its security, its peace, social peace, and he feels perhaps that he can find peace here".

The personable, 45-year-old Nicaraguan president said: "As far as I know he is staying at the Intercontinental Hotel." Hughes has been reported to be in the towering, pyramidshaped hostelry but has not been seen.

Somoza said the sale of planes would be to him and that the merger would be between his Lanica Airline and Hughes' Air West. Somoza said he has neither seen nor talked with Hughes, but "we have talked with some of his lead men about the purchase and sale of airplanes and the merger of airlines."

The tall, heavy-set Somoza said he extended his personal invitation to Hughes three months ago to visit Nicaragua, and Hughes was "delighted to accept."

Somza displayed a "nice" letter from Hughes, typewritten on Hotel Intercontinental stationery, dated Sunday and reading:

"Please accept my heartfelt greetings and appreciation for your cordial invitation to visit beautiful Nicaragua. Your aides have been most gracious and helpful to me and my staff.

"Please convey my sincere thanks and good wishes to all. I look forward with pleasure to our future contacts. Sincerely yours, Howard R. Hughes."

A reporter asked how long Somoza thinks Hughes will stay in Nicaragua. "As long as his business interests keep him here," said the president.

Basic Problems Face Legislators

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Some of the 1972 session's basic problems confronted Missouri legislators when they returned to work today.

The Senate was to convene at 2 p.m. and the House an hour later.

Right off the bat House members will be asked to endorse a rules change designed to get bills of statewide importance out of the mired down list of bills ready for debate and give them a higher priority.

The Rules Committee would be turned into a screening committee to lift major bills into position for early debate. Now many of them are far down the list of more than 300 bills jamming the House docket.

Appropriation bills are no problem—they get top priority automatically. The House is expected to pass some $1.8 bilion in 1972-73 budget bills Tuesday.

Then they go to the Senate where the Appropriations Committee heard appropriation requests before the 1972 session opened. Heavy cuts are expected in the Senate before the bills go to conference committee for settlement.

The Senate committee is still hanging onto the emergency appropriation bill to keep vital programs going until July 1 and restore some welfare cuts. That bill will be considered Monday night.

Killer Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sub-zero cold settled over the Northeast today in the wake of a massive and violent snowstorm that left 15 persons dead in Pennsylvania and New York.

A state of emergency was declared in Pennsylvania by Gov. Milton Shapp. Emilien A. Levesque, director of civil defense for Maine, estimated storm damage in that state would reach into the millions of dollars.

In West Virginia, National Guard troops were placed on the alert to man rescue helicopters if needed in Preston County, hit by drifts up to 15 feet deep.

Ebensburg, Pa., was buried under a 45-inch snowfall and Binghampton, N.Y., reported two feet. High winds dropped the wind-chill index to 50 degrees below zero in the Albany, N.Y., area and winds to 50 miles per hour raked New York City, with the temperature in the teens.

Six persons died in Pennsylvania after collapsing while shoveling snow and nine such deaths were recorded in New York State.

Unseasonably cold air pushed down the Atlantic Coast to as far as Florida.

Over the remainder of the country, fair and dry weather was the rule, except for a few snow flurries near the Great Lakes and in the northern Rockies and isolated showers in Northern California and Alabama.

17 Stopped By Police

Police Chief Arthur Bruce announced that a crackdown began Friday on people who haven't bought their city vehicle stickers.

So far 17 people have been stopped by police for not having their stickers. Bruce said that the judge will probably charge the violators one dollar and court costs for a total of $11.

Another Arrest In Home Breakin

CHARLESTON — Larry Johnson, 24, Charleston, was arrested by the police department Saturday night and turned over to the sheriff's office.

Johnson has been charged with breaking, entering and stealing along with three other men arrested last Tuesday in connection with the Feb. 2 breakin of the Jerry Greenwood home in the Dogwood community. Johnson is being held under $5,000 bond in the Mississippi county jail and is to be arraigned Thursday in magistrate court.

Also arrested on the same charges were Jimmy Johnson, 22, Charleston, Ronnie Lane, 20, and Thomas Sterling, 22, both of East Prairie.

Suspect Jailed For Stealing

NEW MADRID - Frank Catron is in county jail suspected of stealing a .22 rifle Saturday from Phillips Tru-Value Hardware.

He was arrested at Cape Girardeau after authorities were notified he left New Madrid northbound on a Greyhound bus. A rifle was recovered hidden in a suitcase.

Longshoremen Working

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — West Coast longshoremen returned to the docks in force today to begin clearing the backlog of ships idled during a 134day strike, longest in American mainland shipping history.

Dock workers who on Saturday completed ratification of a new contract crowded hiring halls for assignments to unload and load the 218 ships waiting in ports from Bellingham, Wash., to San Diego.

Smaller crews worked Sunday to prepare cranes and other equipment for the resumption of work.

Meantime, in Washington it was announced that President Nixon, while in Peking had signed legislation to end the dock strike, He coupled his largely symbolic act with a renewed call for congressional action on broader legislation to prevent future transportation tie-ups.

In a statement relayed from China, Nixon said he had delayed action on legislation to end the strike by arbitration "in the hope that the pending legislation would encourage the parties to reach a voluntary accord."

"Today," he continued, "as this legislation takes effect with my signature, I am pleased to note that the arbitration machinery will no longer be needed."

A spokesman for the employers' Pacific Maritime Association said 57 crews were to work in San Francisco Bay ports. Seattle reported 17 gangs made up for today with 10 more for the night shift.

The contract with the PMA was approved late Saturday in a coastwide ballot that rolled up a 71 per cent approval vote, the ILWU announced.

The PMA's 122 shipping and stevedoring firm members also voted Saturday afternoon to ratify the 18-month contract, subject to settlement of the so called "steady man" question.

This was turned over by mutual agreement to private mediator Sam Kagel for binding arbitration. He issued an interim order Sunday afternoon giving the two sides until March 10 to settle it themselves.

The shippers want to keep the same crews working steadily on machinery which requires extensive training to operate. The union prefers to rotate all jobs through the hiring hall lists in order to spread work among a membership which for the last decade has seen more and more jobs absorbed by automated and increasingly sophisticated equipment.

The cost of the strike has been estimated by economists at approximately $2 billion.

The strike started last July 1 when a five-year contract expired. A Taft-Hartley injunction sent the men back to work Oct. 6. The walkout resumed Jan. 17 after federal mediation failed.

THE STRANGE ECONOMY OF THE U.S.S.R.

For the first time in history the Soviet Union in 1971 became the largest steel producer in the world. Thereby hangs two or three tales of some importance.

First the figures: Official Soviet tabulations put the year's total steel output for the Communist nation at 133 million tons. This compares with the American Iron and Steel Institute's estimate of 120.2 million tons of steel produced in the United States in 1971. (Both figures in tons of 2,000 pounds each.) A spokesman for the American institute suggested the reason for Russia's outstripping the U. S. was the very high amount of steel imports by the U. S. and economic recession. The Soviet Union imports a small amount of steel from Sweden.

In view of the fact that the U.S.S.R. does not yet have an automobile plant or a truck manufacturing plant with mass-production capabilities like the great factories in the United States, what is Russia doing with all that steel? Some of it is being used to build automobiles in the three auto plants that the Soviet Union has; some goes to construct ships, trucks, railroad cars and locomotives, to lay tracks and erect buildings. But the greatest amount goes into the production of tanks, shells, fighting aircraft, submarines and other warships, silos for missiles, spacecraft, atomic bombs, and other material.

Another matter that is not mentioned in the news of the U.S.S.R.'s steel production primarcy is that it is the result largely of American technology and construction enterprise. Other Western capitalist nations also played a part in the Soviet rise to such towering industrial power.

Last year also the Soviet Government purchased more than $140 million worth of feed grain from the United States, since Moscow has not solved the problem of food production. It steadfastly refuses to follow Western "technology": freedom for its farmers. Despite it ability to produce huge amounts of steel, the Italian Fiat company is building Russia's first real mass-production automobile plant, and American companies are preparing to build the first real mass-production truck manufacturing plan in the U.S.S.R., which is to be the largest in the world.

The Soviet Union can claim another first: Its economy is the strangest in the world. It could not exist without support from the West.

JEFFERSON'S JUDGMENT STANDS
WASHINGTON: 'WISE AND GREAT'

"Treacherous in private friendship and a hypocrite in public life" was the verdict of one eminent American.

Thomas Paine, pamphleteer and patriot, was delivery what he probably sincerely believed to be final judgment on George Washington.

That the first chief executive was the target of scathing attack in his own time is a fact of American history largely forgotten by all but historians. But fact nonetheless. Political hatchetmen of any time would be hard put to match the abuse heaped upon the least political of presidents.

Washington himself, writing in the last year of his presidency to Thomas Jefferson, complained that the partisan press referred to him in "such exaggerated and indecent terms as could scarcely be applied to a Nero, a notorius defaulter, or even a common pickpocket."

Yet the Washington reputation not only survived, it has grown through the years. While the debunking school of historians has been industriously cutting down to size other greats of America's early years, recognition of Washington's indispensable contributions to the fledgling nation has become clearer, respect greater.

Why? He certainly lacked the intellectual brilliance of Jefferson, the political and economic genius of Hamilton. He was not a great speaker or writer, not one to fire men with his words. He would be considered dull, unimaginative today. Why should this sober, even stuffy, country gentleman be revered as have few other presidents?

It is simply that because without Washington there would have been no country, no subsequent presidents.

At the end of the Revolution, whatever discipline and unity had been forged by the war utterly collapsed. Political confusion, economic chaos, even armed rebellion followed victory.

Washington, who had been the indispensable general in winning independence in war, was now to be the indispensible civilian in securing that independence in peace — both as a prime mover of the Constitutional Convention that established the framework of the new nation and as its first president.

Washington, the military hero enjoying the gratitude of his countrymen, knew he had far more to lose than to gain by entering the political arena.

Yet no ideal moved him so deeply as national unity. And by accepting the challenge, with the calumny that inevitably followed, he, more than anyone else, maintained unity during the crucial early years, doing so by sheer force of person and character.

The service to the nation of the man who always thought of himself as president of all the people, who was president of the entire United States as none to follow could hope to be, cannot be debunked.

Jefferson, not Paine, delivered the judgment that was to be history's.

"He was, in every sense of the words, a wise, a good and a great man."

A peptic ulcer starts with a small break in the mucuous lining protecting the stomach and intestinal walls. Once an ulcer appears, it is irritated by the gastrict juices involved in digestion. Studies by Smith Kline & French Laboratories show that ulcer pain can be relieved by controling the acid content in the gastric juices. In clinical testing, a non-prescription anti-acid, kept the acidity level in the desirable range for an average of 67 minutes.

TED KENNEDY AT 40

No man who reaches the age of 40 can be called a kid brother, regardless of how many older siblings he may have. Edward Moore Kennedy was the youngest of nine children, four of whom died umtimely and violent deaths -- including all three of his brothers. On Tuesday, Feb. 22, Kennedy will enter his fifth decade of life, the arbitrary divide between youth and middle age.

Kennedy at 40 is the senior U. S. senator from Massachusetts. A decade ago, he was an assistant district attorney in the commonwealth, his brother John was President of the United States, and his brother Robert was U. S. Attorney General. Thus, when Ted Kennedy announced his candidacy for the Senate in March 1962, he and his family were denounced as presumptuous and arrogant. But he won the Democratic primary with a stunning 69 per cent of the vote and went on to win the general election almost as handily.

Kennedy's political fortunes have sinced ebbed and flowed in roughly equal measure. Through hard work and self-effacement, he won the respect of the initially skeptical senior members of the Senate. In 1969, by a vote of 31-26, he ousted Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana as Senate Democratic Whip. Then came Chappaquiddick. That tragedy, together with faulty nose-counting, led to Kennedy's ouster from the whip post in 1971.

Today, Kennedy is the Senate's leading noncandidate for President -- or is he? In line with his 1970 pledge to Massachusetts voters to serve out the full six years of his current term, he has refused to enter any 1972 presidential preference primaries. But some observers, noting Kennedy's many appearances at party functions around the country, think he might be amenable to a draft if the Democratic National Convention should become deadlocked.

Such speculation is bound to increase when the senator speaks at a Democratic rally in Los Angeles on Saturday, Feb. 19. That appearance will come exactly one week after Democratic caucuses are held at the congressional district level to solicit nominations for national convention delegates. Even so, Kennedy's speech is bound to have some political impact and to stir poignant memories. Robert Kennedy scored his biggest and last presidential primary victory in the Golden State in 1968, and he was assassinated in Los Angeles while still savoring it.

BILLBOARD DEADLINE

Secretary of Transportation Volpe has made it final: unless the Legislature puts Missouri billboard controls into compliance with federal standards by March 31, he will withhold $11,500,000 in federal highway funds. The Legislature has been avoiding this idea, under the tutelage of the billboard lobby. If it continues to do so, state highways will suffer.

Moreover, Mr. Volpe clarified another point. The Government will not help pay for removing road signs erected in violation of the 1965 Federal Highway Beautification Act. The Missouri Senate once voted to use public funds to pay for taking down illegal billboards erected without permits under Missouri's own weak 1968 regulations. Then the Senate changed its mind. Evidently the state will have to compensate owners for removing legal billboards, but not a cent should go for illegal ones.

Though threatened repeatedly with loss of federal funds, the Legislature has so far reacted only to the soft reassurances of the billboard lobby that the Government did not mean what it said. Now the Legislature has only a month and a half to spare the state the results of this folly. — Post-Dispatch.

THE CHOICE

A temptation to which legislators may understandably succumb is to join the mob in legislative proposals which sound attractive.

Often the only thing attractive about the proposals is the title it bears.

The legislation may, in fact, deeply damage rights of citizens. In other words, it may take away rights of Americans and put this nation on the path toward dictatorship.

We commend Senator William J. Cason (D-Clinton) for discerning this fact about a proposal presently before the legislature which would allow local police and sheriffs to use wire tapping devices.

The bill masquerades under the guise of law and order. Therefore, it will attract support. In fact, the Senator's stand in opposing it may be unpopular.

But we need more legislators who understand that duty comes first; that if election to public office is a popularity contest it won't be long before the democratic process falls apart.

The Federal Crime Act of 1968 provides glaring enough bad example of what may happen when authority to wire tap is expanded and loosened.

Bring that down to the local level and provide local officers with wire tap equipment and the threat to individual privacy becomes even greater.

Guarantees of privacy would potentially mean nothing -- even when in long-protected conversations between a minister and church member; lawyer and client; husband and wife.

The most appalling aspect of this yen to broaden authority to wire tap is that top police experts have testified that electronic surveillance is the most inefficient and least productive of police tools. Sound, traditional methods of investigation are much more productive of what every right-thinking person wants - actual results.

Even if wire tapping and bugging really brought good results any broadening of such surveillance should be considered against the chipping away of rights it effects.

It's a choice between whether we want to continue our democracy, for which so many have died, or throw in the towel and become a totalitarian state. — In the Clinton Daily Democrat.

INDUSTRY—STUDENT 'BRIDGE' IS PUBLIC AFFAIRS SUCCESS

College and university students joined hands with business and industry in the Minnesota Coalition to Lower the Voting Age (MCLVA) campaign for placing a 19-year-old vote amendment on the ballot.

The campaign succeeded. Now several students from MCLVA are a part of theMinnesota Youth Franchise Coalition, working on the follow-up steps of educating young people about the political process, getting them registered and urging them to vote, according to Russell W. Laxson, vice president of Public Affairs, Honeywell Inc.

An outgrowth of this campaign is the "Bridges" program of holding rap sessions on topics such as business responsibility, drugs, law and order, technology and economic conversion, profits, and chaning values. These dialogue sessions are tailored to the mutual interests of companies and students.

"Bridges" has helped close that gap between the generations, explained Mr. Laxson.

"Bridges" has done much for business and college groups in appreciating each others' values, Mr. Laxson added.

Another unusual program, fostering the same hope and intent, is one of student internships in corporate, academic and government offices. Students for 10 weeks last winter looked over the shoulders of management to see how it went about making decisions - and particularly how it took into account various social responsibilities in making those decisions.

Business and government organizations participating in this first internship program included International Multifoods; Cargill, Inc.; Northern States Power Co.; Green Giant Co.; Apache Corp; Univ. of Minnesota; Hennepin County Administrator's Office; St. Paul Mayor's Office; Minneapolis City Coordinator's office and Honeywell, Inc.

ATTACKS ON POLICE

New York City Police Commissioner Patrick J. Murphy has accused in formal complaints four members of what he describes as the "Black Liberation Army" in connection with the murder of two police officers. One of the victims was black and one white. They had fought through the war in Vietnam together, become friends and joined the New York Police Department which assigned them to work together. The pair, Gregory Foster and Rocco Lourie, were gunned down in cold blood on Jan. 27. There was no provocation for the attack.

New York police have sworn to track down the killers of their brother officers. In describing the nine who are sought, four of them formally charged and five wanted for questioning. Commissioner Murphy said "This group and a handful of others have been responsible for killings and assaults on policemen, both black and white."

The assaults on our officers of the law must be halted. If they aren't, we are living in nothing more than a jungle with vicious predators on the prowl, destroying the one thing that is most precious to all of us, law and order. Too often, we see on our television screens scenes of funerals being conducted for the men in blue who have fallen to the guns and bombs of the depraved.

There are laws in the books to protect the innocent, and the men wearing the badges are on their beats day and night to enforce those laws and protect life and property. There men in uniform are part of the innocent, too. The persons responsible for their murders must be apprehended and brought before the bar of justice and extreme punishment meted out. Nothing else will satisfy the requirements of a civilized people. HLH

New Anti-racketeering Weapon: small bank and auto loan applications now one of FBI-IRS biggest Anti-mafia guns

WASHINGTON — Next time you see or read of a big black-car cortege arriving at a Mafia marriage or funeral under a heavy barrage of FBI or Internal Revenue Service (IRS) cameras, please note that the lens box is the newest government anti-racketeering weapon.

And it makes no difference if the G-Men or T-Men are using simple Brownies. Point is to get the license plate numbers. Not merely to identify the owners. That's old black hat. Point is to trace the license plates to bank or auto financing loans, check the borrowers' applications and learn whether false statements have been made. The search is not for fraud. The search is for any false (and some legitimate) information over the signature of the loan-seeker at a bank, savings and loan institution, credit union or other federally insured depositor.

This operation, now rippling across the nation, is just part of the newest weaponry, a most simplistic system, launched by the Justice Dept's network of 18 anti-organized crime coordinated strike forces. It is coordinated with a methodical searching of bank records everywhere for all sorts of Mafia loans -- be they FHA, educational, medical or for furniture or investment.

This search is legal under the comparatively new powers granted by an amendment in the final hours of 1970 (just about 14 months ago) to the anti-fraud against government and Federal Reserve acts -- Title 18 of the U.S. Criminal Code sections 1014 and 1010. So intense investiagion is just beginning to get results.

The theory is that any such loan applications, ignored in the past because the law restricted violations only to Federally chartered savings and loan houses, are vital. Under the new law the strike forces can examine anything -- in state chartered banking and loan establishments, banks, credit unions -- any financial house involving Federally insured funds.

Thus even if a Mafioso fills out the loan forms honestly, he provides the government with invaluable leads. This information is inherent in questions on assets, home address, previous business activity, criminal record if any, credit rating, etc. But how can Mafiosi answer such questions honestly? How can they reveal their assets, their holdings in legitimate corporations, their actual home addresses, their past records, their real birth places?

So virtually all of them lie. Or shade the truth. When asked for occupation they may offer some company. But then this company, if it exists, must tell FBI and IRS agents what the Mafioso does at the office or shop. And are Federal taxes being deducted? And why was he hired if he doesn't report and work regularly?

And what of the company itself? Was it muscled into putting the racketeer on the payroll? And if the original loan applicant doesn't answer the question, "Occupation," what does he do for a living? He can't just write "Button Man," slugger (or worse) for the Colombo, Gambino or Catena family.

If the hoods have no legitimate "job," how can they drive big cars, smoke longer cigars, live in fine suburban homes, spend thousands traveling, haunting racetracks and exclusive restaurants?

So it is all in the simple loan application. And it all started in Chicago when an FBI man, according to a Justice Dept. source here, consulted Sheldon Davidson, now head of the strike force there. They searched out the loan application of one Louis DeRiggi. Result was indictment. Davidson had hit on something.

These fellows always needed money. They're always short of cash for an angle or a lady. Some of them go in for an FHA loan, get the money on false statements and put it into "juice." They pay off the loan at 5 or 6 per cent and lend it at anywhere from 20 to 200 per cent. Or they just spend it and repay the government at pittance interest. And they do their home repairs themselves. Or a buttom man does them.

Most of the small sum money lenders are small-time hoods. They are the lower echelon fellows -- cousins or organized crime family bosses, underbosses, captains. Or they are bodyguards or drivers for the dons.

And they have their banking connections. The IRS reports 86 out of the 2,000 top organized criminals are in "finance, banking, savings and loans and brokerage houses." Or they go to banks where the mob boss has political connections.

There have been arrests in Chicago and New York. Some of the accused are legitimate borrowers but most are in the Colombo, Gambino and Genovese mobs in New York. The punishment is minute: two years on each loan application containing false information. And/or a $5,000 fine.

But the potential for anti-racketeering intelligence is enormous. So it is, too, for delving into crooked union locals which put their welfare moneys in savings banks.

It takes much digging. But all the strike forces have been alerted. You can get some of your best shots from a little Brownie. Who says a weapon need be complicated?

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- A six-month investigation has exposed how graveyard salesmen promise America's war heroes "free'. lots, then hard-sell them into burial deals costing up to $2,000.

This macabre nationwide traffic was discovered by five George Washington University law students using the code name "Dead Give-away" and working under consumer advocate Prof. John Banzhai III.

Their 135 pages of findings were turned over to Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., whose Senate Veterans Committee swore the students to secrecy until they can examined a copy of the unsettling study. Here are the highlights:

--An elderly, crippled woman had to exhume the body of her veteran husbnad from Rosewood Memorial Park, Virginia Beach, Va., "because she was unable to pay $1,100 for the 'free' grave for which the veteran had 'registered'."

--"A veteran and his wife ...were told by a salesman from Pinelawn (N.Y.) Memorial Cemetery ...that because of a shortage of burial spaces in the eastern United States, veterans who died after 1980 without a burial space would have to be cremated." The panicked veteran signed a $740 contract.

--A saleswoman told a veteran's wife she was from the Veterans Administration and was sending over a representative. The "VA representative" talked the vet into buying a $338 lot in the "Garden of Winged Victory," Crestwood Cemetery, Grand Blanc, Mich.

DEAD GIVEAWAY

--A young veteran was told by a salesman from Pisgah View (N.C.) Memorial Park that he would lose his VA burial benefits "if he didn't accept the 'free' offer because of a shortage of space in the National Cemeteries ....The resultant cost --$1,441."

--"A totally disabled veteran with brain damage was sold a $1,100 contract by Carolina Biblical Gardens of Guilford, N.C., as the result of high-pressure sales tactics."

The "Dead Giveaway'. students, posing as prospective grave lot buyers, discovered nationwide chains industriously profiting from "free" or nearly "free" burial site offers to veterans.

One chain, Olympus Service Corp., of Dallas, enthusiastically reported to its stockholders that lot sales had "accelerated from the average of $30,000 per month to $350,000."

Other burial chains criticized in the study are Service Corporation International, of Houston, and Woodlawn Memorial Gardens, Inc., Norfolk.

The student researchers found few or no complaints against some cemeteries. But there was evidenee that a few big graveyards were peddling do-it-yourself kits to smaller cemeteries on how to profit from phony "free" offers to vets. In other cases, chains bought-up smaller firms as part of "package" deals with 500 per cent mark-ups.

The studens found abuses occurred most frequently in Florida, Maryland, Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Yet so lucrative is the veterans market that the eminent National Association of Cemeteries recently sponsored a sales management clinic called "Veterans Programs Can Last Forever."

At the Association's Arlington, Va., offices, a spokesman commented, "most of the complaints have been highly exaggerated."

Footnote: Veterans can get up to $250 in burial expenses from the Veterans Administration and a free plot in a National Cemetery from the Army. The army, VA and authorized veterans groups willingly provide burial information.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Hospital Crisis -- Officials at the prestigious Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland had to close down all 11 of their operating rooms recently when they discovered the air conditioning system was discharging "a foreign material which appeared to be rust." Emergency patients were shunted into a backup operating room in the outpatient department while the air in the normal surgical suite was purified.

Tower Trips -- When Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., looks for campaign fund raisers, he goes to the wealthy special interests he has served so loyally during his Senate years. Thus, when he wanted a top fund raiser in Texas's most important county, he went to Humble Oil's capable chairman, Mike Wright. Tower made the secret approach through GOP National Co-Chairman Anne Armstrong and her husband, Tobin. Mrs. Armstrong dispatched her husband's uncle, Tom Armstrong, an old hunting buddy of Wright, to convince him to be finance chairman for Harris County, which includes Houston. But the cagey Wright pointed out that he is on the board of the U.S. Postal Service, which might be a conflict of interest. Crestfallen, Mrs. Armstrong wrote Tower, in a letter marked "Personal and Confidential," that Wright might help out some "without a title," but not formally. Tom Armstrong, she said.," really worked on this and is so sorry he couldn't deliver for you."

Patent Play -- The Interior Department is trying to poke another hole in the public's right to patents developed under federal contracts. The Office of Saline Water has asked Congress to let industry have the rights to de-salinization patents for up to three years. But sharp-eyed staffers at the House Interior Committee have spotted the loophole request. They are estimating how much the give-away will cost the public --and whether it is true, as Saline Water claims, that industry won't do de-salting work without an exemption.

Federal Uncertainties Cloud Water Projects

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Availability of federal nds and a question of the nount cloud the outlook or water pollution batement projects in 107 issouri communities and wer districts.

The Missouri Senate last eek passed and sent to the ouse a bill to provide $20 illion in water pollution ond funds, the state's 25 per ent share to go with 55 per ent from the federal overnment and 20 per cent om local funds.

However, it was pointed ut by Robert H. Hentges, a ater pollution control echnician with the state ater Pollution Board, that ederal participation is up in he air in Washington.

Hentges said the act nder which federal funds re made available has xpired, and two new ongressional approaches are eing considered.

One in the Senate would oost the federal share to 70 er cent and require 10 per ent matching funds from he state and 20 per cent from ocal governments.

A House proposal would rovide 75 per cent federal funds, 15 per cent state and 10 per cent local.

If either of these proposals passes, the $20 million approved by the state Senate would go further than originally expected in financing construction of sewage treatment plants, interceptor, force mains and pumping stations and miscellaneous pollution abatement projects already on the drawing boards.

Another alternative, Hentges said, is continuation of current financing program in Washington. That would mean some communities simply will have to wait another year, or perhaps longer, to get their projects underway.

The Water Pollution Board is anticipating some 73 new applications. Under the present funding formula, the $20 million in state funds would not cover them all.

Twenty-two communities or sewer districts now have projects on file and another 12 are seeking increases due to inflation of construction costs or unforeseen difficulties.

These total about $16 million.

Hentges said about half the project involves construction of sewage treatment facilities. Most of the rest are sewage systems, and a few involve water source treatment projects.

Last October Missouri voters approved a constitutional amendment which would permit the state to spend up to $150 million in bond-financed projects.

Hentges said the program would span about seven to 10 years, although the bonds could be issued for up to a 25-year period.

The bill now in the House carries an emergency clause, which would make it effective as soon as the governor signs it.

Meanwhile, appropriation of the funds has been held up. The House Appropriations Committee first struck the amount from an emergency budget bill for this year.

Rep. E. J. Cantrell, D-Overland, committee chairman, said the legislature must first pass enabling legislation.

If the enabling bill now before the House is passed, actual funding would have to be accomplished in the so-called omnibus bill late in the session which is designed to finance new or expanded programs.

Top Drug Enforcer Opposes Marijuana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top drug enforcer says he disagrees with a former aide's recent stand in favor of legalizing the use of marijuana and he believes the employes of his agency also oppose the idea.

John E. Intersoll, head of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said in an interview that a statement two weeks ago by John Finlator in favor of legalizing the use of marijuana "has made a lot of people very unhappy, including some people who had great faith in him."

Finlator, who retired Jan. 1 as the bureau's No. 2 man, joined the executive board of a Washington-based lobby seeking legalization of marijuana use and endorsed repeal of penalties for smoking or possession of pot.

"It's not my intention," Finlator said, "to promote or encourage decriminalization of that drug.

"We must stop sending people to jail for smoking marijuana."

Ingersoll suggested work and treatment programs or a system of fines as possible alternatives to imprisonment of persons who have a small amount of marijuana for their own use.

"At the same time, I think there is also a need for criminal sanctions for these kinds of offenses," he said.

Ingersoll said he would study the report to be issued next month by the National Marijuana Commission, but "if they are going to recommend the removal of all criminal penalties for simple possession, I'm going to oppose it."

Reports indicate the commission will recommend that Americans be legally free to use pot in private-but won't encourage them to do so.

Ingersoll said if the administration were to accept a recommendation for the legalization of marijuana use, the government would, in effect, be condoning drug abuse.

"This is completely contrary to what the government should do, he said. "Its basic responsibility is to protect the health and safety of its citizens."

"Nobody can convince me that a drug-tolerant society is not going to become more and more afflicted by the use of drugs of all variety," he said.

Asked if there is widespread support within the bureau for Finlator's newly announced stand, Ingersoll said "just the opposite" was true.

"His joining with forces that adovcate the legalization of marijuana has created a lot of questions in the minds of people as to his motivations," Ingersoll said.

Building Collapse Traps 2

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eight floors of a former department store being demolished collapsed Sunday in downtown Kansas City, trapping two men in the tons of rubble. Rescuers hope to reach them by noon today.

The men were Stanley Woods, about 30, of Grandview, Mo., and Donald Shannon, 30, of Topeka, Kan., employes of the Englelhaupt Construction Corp., of Topeka, Kan., which was demolishing the building.

Shortly after the collapse, about noon, rescuers said they heard one of the men moaning.

Rescuers then began digging in two directions to reach the men, one crew from above and another through a basemen adjoining the collapsed structure.

Fred Cow, an Engelhaupt employe emerged from the basement and said the rescuers had been talking with Woods.

"He said he was in pain," said Cow, "and then he said he was bleeding a lot and getting numb."

Coe said he could get no closer than an estimated 12-feet to Woods and could not see him.

The Fire Department chaplain, The Rev. Robert N. Deming, returned from the basement around 3 o'clock and reported that "neither of the men appears to be conscious at this time. We were separated from them by 6 to 12 feet of concrete and steel."

There had been no additional word from the trapped men since.

Bud Marsh of Topeka said, "it never gave us any warning."

Marsh and three other men were cutting a steel beam with an acetylene torch on the first floor.

"That beam snapped and it must have been holding up the rest of the building, because it seemed like everything came down," Marsh related.

James Engelhaupt, leading the rescue attempt, said that "even with the biggest crane in the city" to help, "it's a matter of taking off one piece at a time."

Fire Chief John H. Waas said the chances of survival for the two men were slim.

Article Claims Jackie's Tears Saved Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — A tearful reconciliation cemented a rift that threatened to end the marriage of Aristotle Onassis and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in May 1970, the former chief steward aboard the Onassis yacht says.

Onassis had become irritated by a series of marital quarrels and suggested a separation, but his wife followed him to Paris and they made up, Christian Carafakis writes in the March issue of McCalls magazine.

Although Carafakis worked on the yacht "Christina," he drew on his access to other Onassis employes for the article, an excerpt from Carafakis' forthcoming book, "The Fabulous Onassis."

Onassis had pronounced the marriage a "total failure" and his wife silently accepted his suggestion of a separation during a confrontation in her New York City apartment, according to Carafakis.

The multimillionaire shipping magnate then flew to Paris and was photographed there that weekend with his former frequent companion, fiery opera star Maria Callas. The sight of the picture prompted Mrs. Onassis to fly to Paris, Carafakis claims.

By the time she arrived at Onassis' home "she looked exhausted, and when she took off her glasses her eyes were red and swollen from crying," Carafakis says.

POLLY'S POINTERS

'Curlered' Shoppers Are Her Pet Peeve

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with women who appear in public with their hair in curlers, especially in the supermarkets. I realize there may be times when it is necessary to dash to the store for some much-needed item but I am referring to those who are doing considerable shopping. I once read a joke where one woman phoned another and invited her to go along with her to the supermarket. The second lady replied, "Oh, I can't—I don't have my hair up in curlers."—MRS. H. G.

DEAR POLLY—Angela wrote that she had not been able to remove flower decals from the vinyl floor of her car and I had a similar problem with kitchen cabinets. I used a product sold at stores that sell decals. This is a treated sheet (mine cost five cents each) which is placed wet on the decal and left for from four to five hours. This worked well on metal cabinets and I think they would do as well on vinyl.—DOROTHY

DEAR ANGELA—First try a sheet on one decal that is on an inconspicuous spot, then, if all is well, plaster them on all the others.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Angela should be able to remove those flower decals from the vinyl floor of her car by applying warm vinegar.—CAROL

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I do hope some readers have ideas about displaying an antique pump that is about 17 inches high. This is the type that people once used inside their homes.—MRS. J. D. F.

DEAR POLLY—I have found the following Pointers very helpful in my role as secretary to a busy executive. When mailing several sheets that are stapled together at the top, fold the top third first and much of the bulkiness will ease out at the bottom.

Hardened glue will soften if a little vinegar is put in the container. Vinegar will also dissolve glue spots.

Save time by attaching alphabetical tabs at the beginning of each letter in your telephone book. You can quickly identify the name wanted without a lot of fumbling and searching.—RENA

Death From Heart Attack Unnecessary

It is estimated that more than 670,000 men and women will die of heart attack this year. This staggering number of fatalities is more than the individual population of half a dozen different states.

What is especially shocking is that more than half, or 350,000 of these fatalities will occur outside the hospital.

But, what is even more discouraging about these out - of - hospital deaths is that many of these men and women have "hearts too good to die." These are the heart attack victims that physicians predict could survive if they would act quickly to receive specialized hospital coronary care.

What can be done to prevent these needless deaths? The answer is simple. People must learn to recognize and accept the warning signs of heart attack when they appear. and take immediate steps to receive medical attention.

When heart attack occurs, according to the Heart Association, these are the usual warning signs or symptoms:

* A prolonged heavy pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest behind the breastbone.

* The pain may also spread to the arms, shoulder, neck or jaw.

* The pain or discomfort is often accompanied by sweating, nausea, vomiting, and shortness of breath may occur.

Sometimes these symptoms may subside, and then return.

Studies in leading hospitals where heart attack victims were admitted to coronary care units reveal that the patients convinced themselves at the onset of symptoms that they were suffering from "indigestion," "stomach-aches," and a variety of other minor complaints.

No attempt was made by these patients to seek medical care until pain was so severe, that despite protests, a wife, relative, or friend intervened and either called the family physician, or got the sufferer to the hospital as fast as possible.

This delay in seeking treatment after symptoms appear is crucial, for the first few hours after heart attack is the critical period when sudden death is most likely to occur.

The most common complication that follows deprivation of an adequate supply of oxygen - bearing blood to the heart is ventricular fibrillation. This is where the muscle fibers of the heart contract incoordinately. and the blood - pumping ability of the heart fails. Unless the victim receives immediate treatment, sudden death occurs.

The results of delay in heeding the warning signs of heart attack can be read in the mortality statistics of men and women who fail to get immediate medical treatment.

It is estimated that if all heart attack victims who survive iust a few hours were to receive specialized treatment in a hospital coronary care unit, then the annual feart attack fatalities could be reduced by up to 50,000 lives.

How the coronary care unit makes this possible will be discussed in the third and final article in this series.

Cancer Program Wednesday

NEW MADRID — A special program is to be held in New Madrid County Wednesday to acquaint women of all ages with facts about cancer.

A film, "Chance of a Lifetime," is to be shown. There will also be present a registered nurse to answer questions about the Missouri Cervical Cytology Project. This project is to demonstrate the values of a self- administered cervical "smear" in discovering early cases of cancer of the cervix or womb when it is in its most successfully treated stage. All women who have not had a Pap Test are invited to participate at no cost to them. We urge you to come and let us enroll you in this program, which would mean the difference between Life or Death.

This program is sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Missouri Regional Medical Program, and Missouri Division of Health.

The film will be shown on Wednesday, February 23, at 10 a.m. at the Dixie Theatre in New Madrid and at 1:30 p.m. at the Shannon Theatre in Portageville.

Almost everyone has lost someone dear to them by the disease known as cancer. Don't miss the opportunity to learn how this might be prevented. Come and bring your friends.

We'd be glad to get papers for our pup, but haven't discovered one yet that he can read.

Jackets Top Fashion List

Fashion in wearing seems to become more interesting each season. The number of "looks" available for the consumer offer a chance of individuality and self-expression.

The fashion look coming up has lots of exciting fashions waiting 'round the corner for the spring of '72. Jackets and toppers top the list. Jackets come in every conceivable shape and form....smock, blazer, workman's kimono cardigan, and safari.

A strong Oriental influence is blowing in from the Far East and anythingwrapped and tied kimono-style will rank high in fashion look.

Skirts are important with all those jackets. For the "put-together" look make the jacket, shirt and skirt in different fabric. Skirt lengths are anywhere and everywhere.

There will be more dresses around this spring than there has been in years. The dress is appearing in the shirtdress style, along with the wrap dress with the swirly skirt and pouf shoulders, the scoopy drawstring neckline. After all, there is nothing so feminine as a dress.

Somewhere there's a sea wind bringing in a nautical look. The middy jackets, sailor pants, sailor hats and nautical prints will add the salt seasoning for the look of the sea.

Now is the time to begin to think and to plan. What's ahead can prove to be fun and exciting with the wide range of fashions from which to make your choices. You may choose, interpret and create a springtime image that is you and only you.

Ann Landers

One Town In U.S. Reports No Crime

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the 16-year-old girl who asked if there is a city or town in the United States that is safe. When she was a little girl the doors of her home were never locked, people went everyplace without fear. But all that has changed. Muggings, holdups, assaults, rape, murder -- everything you can imagine has happened in her town in the past five years and people are afraid to walk two blocks from their homes after dark.

I would like to tell that girl about the town I live in. It's beautiful. No one here locks his doors. I have never heard of a rape or a killing -- or even a major robbery. I don't know of anyone whose house has been broken into.

The name of out town is Mechanic Falls, Maine. I want to live here the rest of my life. I'll bet there are many other peaceful towns in America and your readers have written to tell you about them. I do hope you will choose my letter to print. It would be a fine compliment to the good people here. Thank you. --Contentment in Maine.

Dear Contentment: Here it is, along with my warm regards to you and the other residents of Mechanic Falls. You had no competition, dear. I didn't receive even one other letter from a reader telling me his town was free of crime. I hope your letter doesn't change things up there.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been arguing and we need an outside point of view. Please help.

George won a sales contest and the prize is a five-day trip to Bermuda. Neither of us has ever been there and we are awfully excited about it.

Our daughters 15 and 12, are mature and responsible. We've never had any trouble with them. When we hear about the problems our friends are having with their teen-agers we consider ourselves lucky. The girls insist it would be perfectly O.K. to leave them alone in the house. I'm uneasy about doing it even though I'm sure thay can be trusted. We live on a safe street in a good neighborhood.

The older girl has been a sitter for two years and she says it would make no sense for us to hire someone to sit with her. My husband's answer: "NO DICE." What do you say? -- In The Middle

Dear In: I say NO DICE, also. This in no way suggests the girls can't be trusted, but there are darned few places like Mechanic Falls, Maine, Lady. Hire an older woman to come in and stay with your daughters. Or perhaps a relative can help out.

P.S. When you're in Bermuda, look for me in the Mid-Ocean News in Hamilton. It's a nifty paper.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you don't believe in love at first sight and neither do I, but listen: Yesterday this dream of a man walked into the office where I am a receptionist and asked to be directed to Mr. L's office. The moment his eyes met mine something marvelous happened. When he spoke, his voice was like Johnny Carson's. I knew instantly something big was coming into my life.

Fifteen minutes later he came back and asked if I had plans for dinner. I said no. Well, Ann, that was the most divine evening of my entire life. The man is divorced, my age, an atheist (which means we would have no religious problems) and we are in love. He lives in Paducah and promised to be back in two weeks. Please tell me that love at first sight IS possible. I was dumped twice this last year and I need a dream to hang onto. --Star Eyes

Dear Eyes: O.K., Doll, if you need a dream, this is it. But don't mistake it for reality. Chemistry isn't love. This relationship may evolve into something meaningful but love must take root and grow --- one day at a time.

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with 16 cents worth of stamps to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

New Foods Added To Weight Watchers Program

Potatoes, margarine, cereal and mayonnaise, have been added to the new Weight Watchers program, that was introduced last week to all Weight Watchers classes directed by Sandie and Joe Folender, directors of Weight Watchers of Greater Missouri and Illinois.

The new program is the first major change since its inception almost a decade ago. Recognized as the world's most successful weight reduction program, it brings to members many foods that were not previously permitted.

A second major phase in the new program is the introduction of the "Leveling Plan." Members who reach a weight 10 pounds above goal can begin this new plan, designed to assist Weight Watchers in losing those 10 pounds before going on the Maintenance Plan.

The new program has been designed by Weight Watchers International nutrition experts, Miss Fay Burnett and Dr. William E. Sebrell. It was developed from new findings, facts, learned by scientists studying the body's need for certain substances in food. These discoveries, now inserted into the program, makes certain all members receive the vital elements the body needs to maintain it in strong and healthy condition.

Mrs. Folender explained, "The new program is based on food values. It contains the proper combination of vitamins, minerals and calories and is not based on calorie count alone."

To the member it means an "exciting new program," that takes in taste preferances while allowing excess weight to be lost with a Maintenance Plan to follow to keep it lost forever.

Third Child Stricken With Mercury Poisoning Comes Home

ALAMAGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Ernestine Huckleby, one of three children stricken by mercury poisoning more than two years ago after they ate pork from a home-butchered hog, has left the hospital.

The 10-year-old can't feed herself, can't talk, and can't see. Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Huckleby, said Wednesday night, "I'm just so tickled about having her home again. I'd like to tell everyone about my blessings and thank God."

The youngster had been home from a local hospital for day visits, her mother said, "but when we took her back to the hospital at night she cried every time because she was lonely."

Since Monday, she has been home full time.

"All she can do yet is to smile when we tell her a joke. The people at the hospital wanted us to have her sent to a different hospital rather than let us bring her home," her mother said. "I prayed to the Lord to bless me by letting Ernestine come home and he answered my prayers."

Doctors traced the mercury poisoning that afflicted Ernestine and two older Huckleby children to seed grain that had been treated with a mercury compound and then fed to the butchered hog.

The older children—Jean, now 22, and Amos, now 15—have been home for some time after spending several months in a rehabilitation center at Roswell.

All three children suffered severe brain damage, doctors said. Like Ernestine, Amos is blind, but Dorothy Jean has regained much of her sight.

Dorothy Jean now gets around by herself with the help of crutches and is going to night school to finish junior high.

"She called out to me and was all excited about how she was getting along," Mrs. Huckleby said, recalling a day in December when Dorothy Jean tried walking in a hall without crutches.

"Dorothy was bouncing from wall to wall, but she was able to go a short distance by herself," Mrs. Huckleby said. "She can wash clothes and is a lot of help to me these days."

"Amos can give himself a bath now, and he can move anywhere on the couch by himself without having to have help," his mother said. "Amos is doing well."

Regional basketball tournament action got underway in the Kearney Class M regional and Green City Class S event Saturday night to tipoff a week long affair that will find 16 teams in each class beginning the state tournament next week.

A total of 419 schools will take part in the tournaments with 213 entered in Class S. and 206 in Class M. Some regionals are split with first and second round games being played at separate sites in accord with geographical areas to permit as many games as possible to be played with a minimum amount of transportation and loss of school time.

The purpose of the tournament series is to give each school the opportunity to demonstrate and evaluate, in comparison with other schools throughout the state, the knowledge, skills and emotional patterns that have been taught through interscholastic basketball. An important factor in each school's interscholastic program is the sportsmanship tropy awarded at each state tournament to schools whose players, coaches, cheerleaders and fans display the best sportsmanship.

The winners of the sixteen regionals in each class will advance to first round state games at ten different sites across the state. Quarterfinal games are planned for Kirksville, New Haven, Nixa and Warrensburg in Class S and Kearney, Cape Girardeau, Troy and Willard in Class M.

The Class M semifinal and finals are scheduled for March 3-4 at the University of Missouri at Columbia and the Class S semifinal and final games at the University of Missouri at Rolla also March 3-4.

Listed below are the four probable strongest teams in each regional as seeded by the regional tournament committee. Among the factors considered in seeding teams are won and lost records and a comparison of the competition played during the season.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

WHO WILL be the Southeast Missouri representatives in the state high school Class M and S basketball tournaments next week?

That's the main question I'll answer in this column today as the Daily Standard sports staff joins with me in predicting the outcome of the district regionals.

Due to uncontrolable circumstances I've been unable to present this column daily, but did manage to get out a daily column during the Holiday tournaments and for a few games immediately after the first of the year and sport a 49 of 60 mark for a 816 average in my effort.

My colleagues, Bill Harrison, Harry Davis and Dale Forbis have passed along their thoughts on the eventual winners of the four district regionals and we'll discuss those after we give you a first hand look at tonight's first round action.

CLASS M REGIONAL
At Senath

Senath-Hornersville vs. Portageville --- It'sbeen a long season for Coach Bob Kelso's Bulldogs, but it shouldn't last over 32 minutes of playing time tonight as the Lions begin to roar toward the final. Senath 72, Portageville 47.

Hayti vs. Malden --- Beware of the Indians? They were upset last season in the final of the Southern event and have their sights set on a trip to the state event his season ... But Malden shouldn't be overlooked ... They've been tough at times during the campaign. Hayti 77, Malden 61.

East Prairie vs. Campbell --- This should be a rather interesting contest although neither team is considered a threat for the finals, both would like to add another win to their depleted victory column. Our pick is East Prairie 65, Campbell 63.

At Bloomfield

Bernie vs. Doniphan --- Don't be surprised if coach Jack McGown's Mules make a little noise in this week long event. They'll begin with tonight's game. Bernie 61, Doniphan 56.

Notre Dame vs. Chaffee --- I figure this to be one of the better first round matchups. . . The Red Devils have a tremendous one- two scoring punch in Thomas – Dooley while the Bulldogs have a balanced attack . . . It'll be interesting and beneficial for coach J. F. Dopp's CHS cagers to win this game and advance further for some added experience for his underclassmen dominated unit. But I figure the Dogs have too much balance and depth. . . Notre Dame 71, Chaffee 60.

Puxico vs. Neelyville --- It's been almost 10 years ago to the date that John Sheehy stared on the Wildcat hardwoods for the Bernie Mules and paced them into the state tournament and second place . ... It'll be nice if he can coach his Indians into the same position. They've been tough at times during the campaign and have the potential to go all the way . . . At least they'll make it past the first round. . . Puxico 81, Neelyville 59.

CLASS M REGIONAL
At Matthews

Cooter vs. Matthews --- This traditional battle has been part of the class S regionals for three straight seasons ... Cooter's season has ended fast and the Pirates have advanced through the event and into the state tournament. . . It seems they are headed in the same path. Matthews 85, Cooter 67.

Parma vs. Clarkton --- Over the year's the Parma Pirates have been known for their regional tournament play ... In the past ten years PHS quintets have placed among the top four in seven of those years ... They face the event's second seeded quintet, but have the potential to record the night's first upset ... Clarkton has been stumbling of late and I'll go with my alma mater... PHS... Parma 70, Clarkton 67.

AT ZALMA

Bell City vs. Leopold --- These two teams will battle to get into the tournament bracket, thus making it a long road to the finals... This should be a real tough contest as both clubs seek to add to their victory column more than to survive the tournament. We favor Bell City... BCHS 59, LHS 55.

College High vs. Advance ---The state's seven rated Hornets should have little trouble in this battle or any other in this half of the Matthews tournament... But the going gets tough for the AHS cagers when they venture to MHS for the semifinals and possible final berth. Advance 101, College High 57.

ST. VINCENT VS. ORAN — Can coach Joe Scott's Eagles regain the form used to place second in the famed Bloom field Christmas tournament...IF so the Eagles will be unstopable...Tonight's contest will be a good test...Oran 66, St. Vincent 62,

AT SOUTH IRON

Valle vs. Bunker ---Although Bunker has been unrated in the district basketball polls, they are one of the toughest if not the toughest teams in the West half of the SEMO district....They'll have little trouble this week... Bunker 71, Valle 48.

Marquand vs. Viburnum...After a lengthy discussion with officals of this event... we've come to the conclusion that this battle will be the best of first round play..... Viburnum is seeded fourth and Marquand fifth....and I've called an upset...Marquand 63, Viburnum 61.

AT COUCH

Koshkonong vs. Couch---Beware of the Indians!!! Coach Stan Whitson's cagers have their sights set on a trip to Sikeston for a first round state Class S tournament game.....I've got them picked to survive the Annapolis event....They'll start with a 77-56 first round verdict.

Naylor vs. Winona---I'll go with another upset.....Naylor will survive the first round test against the fourth seeded cagers....Naylor 62, Winona 57.

NOW for a look toward next week's state tournaments.

Out of the Southern regional at Senath will come the host Lions to pit their talents against the Northern Winning, Richland Rebels....But don't count our Hayti and Lilbourn in the South and Scott Central and Kelly in the North, my colleagues advise....

In the Eastern Class S regional at Matthews our pick is the Pirates while the Couch Indians are our favorites to make it through the Western event at Annapolis....But Advance and Oran have been mentioned as the East titlest and Bunker and South Iron as the West winners.....

We'll find out how good our predictions are by 9 p.m. Saturday night when the final champion will be crowned. Title games of the Senath, Bloomfield and Matthews regionals will be Friday night.

K-State Closes In On Big 8 Leader

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas State can move into a tie for first place in the Big Eight basketball chase tonight when it hosts last place Oklahoma State.

The Wildcats, 7-2, manuevered into this position with a handy 68-54 decision over Iowa State at Ames Saturday. Missouri, 8-2, sustained its margin with a 59-52 defeat of Colorado in Columbia.

Nebraska humbled Kansas, Big Eight defending champion, 99-73 at Lincoln and Oklahoma clipped Oklahoma State 80-73 in Stillwater.

Following Missouri and Kansas State in the standings are Nebraska, 7-3, Oklahoma, 6-3, Kansas, 5-5, Iowa State, 3-8, Colorado, 2-7, and Oklahoma State, 1-9.

After tonight, both Kansas State and Missouri have two road and two home games. The Wildcats take to the road for contests against Oklamoma and Missouri while they entertain Colorado and Nebraska.

The Tigers play at Kansas and Nebraska while Kansas State and Oklahoma pay calls at Columbia.

K-State used slowdown tactics in the final 11 and a half minutes to fashion its victory over ISU. Lon Kruger, stylish playmaking guard from Silver Lake, Kan., headed the Wildcats with 20 points.

"Kruger did a heckuva job. For a sophomore he does a tremendous job under pressure," said KSU Coach Jack Hartman. "He doesn't look like a sophomore at times."

Chief Cyclone was Martinez Denmon who scored 14 points.

Missouri, 15th in national ratings, turned in its poorest shooting performance of the campaign in downing the Buffaloes. The Tigers had only a 35 per cent average but Colorado's average was one point less than that.

Greg Flaker of Missouri and Jim Creighton of Colorado each had 16 points.

Nebraska's point total was the highest scored against the Jayhawks by a Big Eight team and only stall measures by KU prevented the Cornhuskers from exceeding the century mark.

Neither Joe Cipriano, NU coach, nor Ted Owens, KU mentor, made a move to shake hands after the contest. Cipriano, whose Huskers suffered a 57-56 overtime defeat at Lawrence, savored the victory. "This one was worth waiting for," he said.

Chuck Jura scored 33 points for Nebraska while Bud Stallworth had 28 for Kansas.

Oklahoma put down a late insurrection in turning back OSU. Bobby Jack scored 20 points for the Sooners while Scott Martin chipped in 19 and Andrew Pettes 18. The Cowboys were paced by Jerry Clack's 18 points.

Colorado is at Kansas in tonight's only other conference contest. Big Eight teams are then idle until Saturday when Missouri is at Kansas and Kansas State is at Oklahoma in day, televised games. Nebraska goes to Colorado in a night clash.

TRCC Raiders Face Paducah Tonight

POPLAR BLUFF — Three Rivers Community College recorded their 20th victory of the season Saturday night and moved into a tie for the conference lead with a 58-56 decision over Jefferson County.

Steve Reynolds scored 15 points and Larry Wills and Henry Hall added 10 and 11 points respectively as the Raiders fought off a late game JC rush for the victory. Wills headed up the TRCC rebounding with 10 grabs and newly activated starter, Craig Millham, pulled down eight.

Three Rivers rushed to a 34-24 first half lead, and held on for the win.

Coach Gene Bess's cagers face the national fourth ranked Paducah Junior College cagers tonight at 7:30 p. m. at Poplar Bluff high school gym.

Scoring:

THREE RIVERS (58)
Baker 7, Hall 11, Lawrence 9, Millham 6, Reynolds 15, Wills 10.
Totals: FG — 22; FT — 14: PF — 18.

JEFFERSON (56)
Cornejo 7, Young 13, Moton 11, Zekwer 2, Kelly 9, Mackey 12, Poliak 2.
Totals: FG — 19; FT — 18; PF — 17.

Foyt Wins Daytona 500

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A. J. Foyt, just a month past his 37th birthday, has finally become a member in good standing of what is known among Southern stock car drivers as "The Good Ole Boy's Club."

He won the Daytona 500, most prestigious of all the big money events for stock sedans Sunday and he did it in such convincing fashion that several NASCAR regulars went to victory lane to clap him on his sweat-stained shoulders.

"If it couldn't have been one of us, I'm glad it was him," said fourth-place finisher Benny Parsons, an ex-Detroit cab driver. Parsons, long a member of the "club," was born in North Wilkesboro, N.C.

The only other leader was Bobby Allison, No. 2 in 1971 winnings behind Petty.

Robinson, Wills Sign-Pacts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson and Maury Wills, the heart of the Los Angeles Dodgers' pennant hopes, have signed their 1972 baseball contracts for a total estimated near a quarter-million dollars.

Robinson, the 36-year-old outfielder acquired from the Baltimore Orioles for four players during the winter, signed Sunday for about $140,000. It was $10,000 more than he made with the Orioles and $10,000 less than he was seeking with his new team.

Wills, the longtime shortstop and team leder, joined the Dodgers for a salary in the $100,000 range.

Robinson and Wills were the biggest names in a day of player signings that also included Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees.

Murcer, the Yankees' leading hitter last season with a .331 average, signed for $65,000.

Shortstop Gene Alley signed for an estimated $25,000 with the Pittsburgh Pirates, leaving only two of the World Champions unsigned—shortstop Fran Taveras and pitcher Nelson Briles.

In Casa Grande, Ariz., San Francisco Giants President Horace Stoneham arrived at camp asking the whereabouts of his pitching mainstay, Juan Marichal.

Not only did Stoneham express surprise at the absence of Marichal, who reportedly seeks a $150,000 contract, but he said.

"I don't even know how much he wants because he's never contacted me.

Upsets Top College Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Bill Gibson, in a state of mild shock, wondered aloud how his sixth-ranked Virginia basketball team had lost to beleagured Duke.

Then he volunteered the answer, unsolicited.

"Our shooting was atrocious," said Gibson after Duke bedeviled Virginia 86-76 Saturday night.

He didn't stop there, however.

"It was disgraceful the way we played," Gibson said. "I'm discouraged and disappointed at this point. This is not how the game of basketball was meant to be played."

The Blue Devils, who also upset third-ranked North Carolina earlier this season, have been rocked by player losses. Several left the team, including second-leading scorer Richie O'Connor a couple of weeks ago.

Virginia was one of three Top Ten teams which had a lost weekend. Illinois upset No. 8 Ohio State 64-62 in a Big Ten match and Houston beat South Carolina 95-85 in a battle of major independents.

Top-ranked UCLA walloped Washington 100-83 as Bill Walton scored 31 points and grabbed 15 reounds. It was the Bruins' 20th victory this season without a defeat and their 165th in the last 170 games.

Second-ranked Marquette, playing without standout center Jim Chones for the first time, turned back Creighton 70-61 for its 22nd victory; North Carolina clobbered Notre Dame 99-74; No. 4 Louisville took Wichita State 69-60; No. 5 Penn beat Yale 71-62; No. 9 Long Beach State trimmed Pacific 86-62 and No. 10 Marshall crashed North Carolina-Charlotte 89-69.

Duke had an uneasy 40-36 halftime lead but broke it open with 74 per cent shooting in the second half.

After Virginia pulled to 55-54 with less than 12 minutes remaining, Chris Redding scored 12 straight points for the Blue Devils in a 14-4 rip that gave the winners some room.

Ohio State killed its own chances with a sub-standard performance from the foul line, sinking only 12 of 28 shots.

"We missed enough free throws to win a lot of games," said Coach Fred Taylor.

Yet the Buckeyes still had a chance to tie the game with four seconds left but threw the ball wild on an inbounds pass.

"We were trying to lob the ball to the backside," said Taylor.

"We had enough opportunites to win the game, but didn't," said Taylor. "I'm not trying to take anything away from Illinois. They got every loose ball there was in the last seven minutes. Their man-to-man hurt us. It gave them momentum and we couldn't get the ball inside. Our guard pentration left a great deatl to be desired."

While free thorws hurt the Buckeyes, they helped Illinois. The winners connected on 34 of 46.

"It was a very agressive game and the way we were shooting, we really needed a lot of free throws," said Illinois Coach Harve Schmidt. "I don't think we have played a man-toman defense any more aggressively."

Houston rallied from a sixpoint deficit to trim South Carolina behind Dwight Davis' 26 points and 13 rebounds.

"This was a big game, but they're all big games for us now," said Davis, referring to Houston's wish for a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

"Of course, this was our biggest game," said Houston Coach Guy Lewis, who figures the Cougars need 18 victories to make the post-season playoffs. They've won 17.

Marquette, which had been winning close games all season with Chones, didn't have any easier time of it without him. The star signed a pro contract last week with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

The Warriors trailed by 10 points late in the first half, but shot 82 per cent in a second half rally led by Larry McNeill, Chones' replacement at center.

"When we were 10 points down we needed a big man back there," said Marquette captain Bob Lackey. "But we looked around and saw Big Man Chones ain't here and we gotta do it ourselves."

In games involving the rest of the ranked teams, No. 11 Brigham Young whipped Utah 79-66; No. 12 Southwestern Louisiana stopped St. Leo 11649; 13th ranked Providence smashed Holy Cross 104-68; No. 14 Florida State blasted Georgia Tech 108-50; 15th-rated Missouri tripped Colorado 59-52; No. 16 Hawaii defeated Oklahoma City 109-95; 17th-ranked Kentucky trimmed Florida 9568; No. 18 Memphis State nipped St. Louis 78-70; No. 19 Maryland beat Clemson 67-57 and No. 20 Tennessee turned back Georgia 71-68 in overtime.

Lincoln Claims Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lincoln University kept its league record unblemished this week with two victories to sew up the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association title while runnerup Missouri-Rolla dropped into a second place tie with Southeast Missouri State.

Lincoln thumped Northwest Missouri State in Maryville 6965 Saturday and Missouri-Rolla 81-79 earlier inhe week to clinch the title, while Southwest Missouri spilled Missouri-Rolla 7758 to drop the Miners out of the contending spot.

Among the independents, Missouri-St. Louis with a 16-4 record and Culver-Stockton at 19-5 seem favored to win spots in regional NCAA and NAIA playoffs. Missouri-St. Louis will meet William Jewell tonight in St. Louis and a victory by Jewell could also give them a spot in the NAIA regional.

Other independents that showed improvement were Missouri Western which has won 9 of its last 13 games and Park which won three times to climb to a 10-9 record.

The Newspaper Story

NEWSPAPERS MAKE A BIG DIFFERENCE IN PEOPLE'S LIVES

If you just stop to think of it, newspapers make a BIG difference in people's lives every day. People need all the information they can get concerning the many social, economic and political problems of the day in order to act responsibly and prudently.

And it makes a big difference to people whether threats of nuclear war are increasing or waning . . . . whether taxes are going up or down . . . whether fire and police protection are adequate . . . whether the business outlook is good or bad . . . whether their food, air and water is being polluted . . . what merchants are offering . . who won the big game . . . it makes a big difference in a hundred ways in people's lives every day.

It has been truly said that a city or town is the feflection of its newspaper. Good newspapers are found in good, wideawake, aggressive towns. And vice versa.

Adoption of newspapers as "Living Textbooks" in school classrooms throughout the United States is growing by leaps and bounds. Recognition by educators and teachers of the importance of newspapers as the major means of acquainting young people with their rapidly changing world scene is increasing. No bound textbook can keep up with it.

Newspapers are being used in thousands of classrooms to afford practice in basic reading skills, to learn composition and literature, to improve verbal facility and vocabulary development, and to enrich pupils' understanding in social studies, science, mathematics, home economics and other subjects.

Meat, Poultry Has Bacteria That Poisons

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A U.S. Food and Drug Administration official says tests have indicated more than half of some kinds of meat and poultry contains bacteria that could cause food poisoning.

Dr. Oliver W. Kaufmann of the FDA's training center in Cincinnati, Ohio, said in an interview here the tests have been conducted principally in Atlanta, Chicago and Cincinnati. He said the tests are considered representative of other cities.

Kaufmann emphasized, however, that if meat is properly cooked it is unlikely to affect those eating it.

JOHN

John, the son of Zebedee, was called by Jesus to be part of the inner circle of leadership. This apostle was a cousin to Jesus, as was his brother James, the Apostle. They were operating a fishing business near Capernaum before embarking on the journeys planned by Jesus.

Around every great world leader are those who carry personal confidence and trust. Such was John, "whom Jesus loved." Whether on the Mount of Transfiguration and its heights of divine revelation, or in Gethsemane and its course of human despair, they were the close companions of Christ: Peter, James and John. And in the harrowing hours of the Cross, Jesus turned to John and gave His mother, Mary, into his care. And this trust was not misplaced. John preached with boldness and continued the ministry of Jesus.

JAMES

Christian history is very honest about the reaction of the people who were said to be Jesus' brothers and sisters toward His ministry of teaching and healing: They were opposed. Jesus observed on one occasion that a prophet was without honor in his own house. At least one Scripture source recalls the time that His family tried "to take him away," so worried and apprehensive had they become over His public ministry.

Heading the family opposition may have been James, the oldest, and direction may have fallen on his shoulders. Joseph is no longer mentioned, believed to have died years earlier. Jesus' determination to preach the coming of the Kingdom of God must have annoyed James intensely: more work and supervision for him of a poor and struggling, fatherless family. Yet in God's providence, James is among the first to see the Risen Christ, to believe in the Resurrection and to take his place in church history. As head of the Jersualem Church, he was wise and courageous—the hallmark of belief.

Streets were filled from curb to curb in some sections of town, the levee or dyke north of the city caused concern for some time, a highway culvert east of the city slowed up traffic, and the furnace room of the new highway garage was flooded with 13 feet of water, damaging the heat plant and auxiliary equipment.

Plane To Be Scraped

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) – Howard Hughes' "Spruce Goose"—one of the world's largest airplanes which turned out to be a lame duck—may be headed for the chopping block.

Twenty-nine years ago the federal government gave Hughes, the billionaire industrialist, a contract to build a giant experimental plywood seaplane.

For $40 million it got the "Spruce Goose." The eight-propeller craft flew only one time, for one mile and reached an altitude of 70 feet.

Now it is reported the government may try to get some of its investment back by selling the plane.

Tueday the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram quoted a spokesman for the General Services Administration in Washington as saying the government might sell the 140-ton plane through competitive bidding when the plane's lease expires June 30.

Hughes spokesmen were not available for comment.

Hughes, who supervised construction and was at the controls in 1947 when the Spruce Goose made its flight, leases it for $800 a month. He pays the Long Beach Harbor Department $36,000 a year for a secluded hangar hiding the plane, which has a 320-foot wingspan.

There were no reports of prospective buyers.

In recent years the Harbor Department has threatened to evict the "Spruce Goose" and return the hangar to more active uses. On Monday the Harbor Commission received a request from the Hughes Tool Co. for a one-year extension of its current lease, which expires Sept. 4.

What's The Law

Advertiser Not Liable

THE CASE OF THE HALOED PUBLISHER
By Jack Strauss, LL.B

Wilbur, newspaper publisher, was as straight-laced as a corset. To him, propriety wasn't a word, it was a way of life. Consequently, when a motion-picture operator submitted advertising to be printed in his newspaper for a so-called "adult" film, Wilbur flipped his halo with indignation. And, adhering to his motto of "Stop, look and less sin," he refused to publish it.

In due course, the motion-picture operator sued Wilbur for damages. Indoing so, he asserted that he had sustained very substantial losses at the box office because Wilbur had turned thumbs down on his advertising.

"Of course I turned it down," responded Wilbur in court. "And I had a right to do it. It was a smutty picture. Inst ad of shooting the film, they should have shot the producer."

"The trouble with Wilbur is that he's too prudish," was the answer. "If he had his way, he'd put pants on animals. Since he wasn't a censor and the film wasn't even banned in Boston, he had a duty, as a publisher, to print my advertising. Since he refused to do it, he should be held liable."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the haloed publisher pay damages for turning thumbs down on the advertising?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a newspaper is strictly a private enterprise with no obligation to accept advertising that it chooses not to accept. (Based upon a 1966 Michigan Court of Appeals Decision)

Transportation Bond Endorsed By St. Louis C Of C

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' proposed $730 million transportation bond issue was endorsed Thursday by the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Chamber President William L. Behan Jr., called for support from state and local leaders.

"The improvement of our state highway system and a start on rapid transit development in St. Louis and Kansas City is a program all Missourians must support if we are to adequately meet our state's future transportation needs," Behan said.

Q—How much of the shell of a crab is shed at molting?

A—All of it, down to the tips of the legs and the feelers, and including even the lining of the stomach.

Kuehle Announces His Candidacy

St. Louis (AP) — Harold D. Kuehle, Cape Girardeau County collector, announced in St. Louis Friday that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state.

Kuehle scheduled news conferences at Kansas City and Springfield later in the day to discuss his candidacy.

"In traveling about the state in recent weeks and talking with citizens in all walks of life, I found them to be disturbed about what has been going on in their state government in Jefferson City," said the 36 year-old Kuehle.

The only candidate who has filed thus far for secretary of state is the incumbent, James C. Kirkpatrick, a Democrat. He was the first candidate to file after the 1970 general election.

"The king will reply, 'I assure you that whatever you did for the humblest of my brothers you did for me.' " —Matthew 25:40

PRAYER: O God, crator and lover of man, have mercy upon Thy suffering children in every land. Heal the social ills that cause them to suffer. Bring to Thy healing power, truth, peace, love and blessings. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Feb. 21, the 52nd day of 1972. There are 314 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1916, the World War I battle of Verdun began in France. It became the longest and bloodiest battle of the war, with more than one million persons killed.

On this date:

In 1838, Samuel F. B. Morse gave the first public demonstration of the telegraph.

In 1885, the Washington Monument was dedicated in the nation's capital.

In 1919, After World War I, the Allies recognized the Polish government of Ignace Paderewski.

In 1941, during World War II, Allied forces landed in Italy's African territory of Eritrea.

In 1961, President Charles de Gaulle of France called on South and Central America to form a united Latin world with France and other Latin countries.

In 1965, Black Muslim leader Malcolm X was shot to death as he was about to speak at a rally of several hundred followers in New York City.

Ten years ago: Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. was undergoing medical tests at Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas after becoming the first American to fly in orbit around the earth.

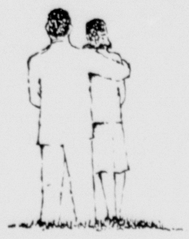
The greatest part of our service is for the living



"What good do funeral services do for the living?"

People who ask this question are missing the point. Funeral services are primarily for the living . . . for the survivors who face this difficult task of re-adjustment. It is their satisfaction and peace of mind that we strive for at Nunnelee Funeral Home.

Dear Mr. Blanton,

This letter is in reply to an article recently appearing in your paper regarding price fixing in the local area funeral homes. The first question that I have is why were the funeral homes at Cape, Cairo, Kennett, St. Louis and Joplin not included in the charges brought. For one year I worked with one of the Funeral Homes mentioned in this suit, McMikle in Charleston. While there it was my duty to work on all insurance papers submitted to the funeral home for payment of premiums. To the best of my ability I never collected any moneys for the Insurance Co. mentioned, nor have I ever heard of them until I read your article in the paper. When a person works with someone they get to know them closer than just a social acquaintance. I have the utmost confidence in the McMikle Funeral Homes of Charleston and East Prairie. My mother and father have their insurance there and I would not have it any other way. I know the respect that these people have for those that have lost a loved one and it is real respect and sorrow. You will never find a person who requires anymore reverance for the Ministry that he is in than, Elgin McMikle. The word ministry may surprise some, but I can assure everyone that this is the way that he and Mrs. McMikle feel about their business. I have seen both of them with tears in their eyes at the loss of a friend and fellow citizen.

With regard to price fixing I happen to know that one price was put on a funeral and that was the price that was shown to all the public. There was not one price for one family and another one for another. I know, for when stock was replaced, I put the original price on the merchandise. I also happen to know that there was a cost increase on certain items for the funeral home but this exorbed by the business and not one dime of the additional expense was passed on to the public.

No one can tell me that this firm was ever involved in price fixing, for if so I would have known since I worked with the books. For some one to say that the McMikle Funeral Homes were involved in price fixing is a lie from the pit of Hell.

Forgive us dear Lord we pray
Of all our sins and wicked ways
And be with us both night and day
And guide our footsteps along the way
Teach us also to sing and pray
And to walk that straight and narrow way
So that on the great Judgment Day
That we will with Thee forever stay.
